Naval-Air Battle Raging

By CHARLES H. McMURTRY

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 25 (AP)—Car rier planes of the U. S. Third Fleet have sunk a large Japanese carrier, damaged two other larg e carriers, five or six battleships, one cruiser and several other unidentified warships in a great three- pronged naval battle which is still continuing near the Philippines. The U. S. S. Princeton, a light carrier in Adm. Halsey's force, was lost when, already badly crippled, her magazines exploded and she had to be sunk by American ships.

No mention was made in the communique issued by Adm. Nimitz of any great sea battle between American fleet units and the Japanese fleet, as claimed by the Japanese radio since late yesterday.

The Tokyo radio has admitted loss of two cruisers and a destroyer in the action while claiming to have sunk 11 ships and damaged five others.

The Princeton's captain, 133 officers and 1227 men were rescued. As many as 250 may have been lost with the carrier.

In addition to the fleet units sunk or damaged, the Japanese lost 150 planes.

MITSCHER

NIMITZ

HALSEY

The actions began Monday afternoon (U. S. time), extended throughout Tuesday and general "action is continuing," Nimitz said.

Nimitz said a strong force of land-based Japanese planes attacked one U. S. task group Monday and succeeded in seriously damaging the Princeton, which is the first American carrier lost since the Liscombe Bay went down in flames off the Marshall Islands in early December, 1943.

Approximately 150 of these enemy planes were shot down during the attack, Nimitz said.

The Japanese—obviously attempting a surprise three-pronged attack which they hoped would catch Halsey's force concentrating on Japanese battleships and cruisers in the Sibuyan and Sulu Seas—sent a third force from Formosa.

This group included at least three carriers. However there was no indication in the communique that any Japanese carrier planes were launched against the Third Fleet which possibly achieved surprise instead in its crippling attack on the Imperial navy ships.

It was from this carrier force that Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's planes sank "at least one large carrier and severely damaged two others."

Nimitz said reports of this carrier action south of Formosa yet are incomplete, indicating the Third Fleet may have inflicted additional severe damage upon the enemy.

The actions began Monday. Carrier search planes discovered two enemy forces heading eastward through the Sibuyan and Sulu seas, ostensibly intending to bombard Gen. MacArthur's ground forces on Leyte island.

One force consisted of three or four battleships, 10 cruisers and about 13 destroyers. Repeated attacks by carrier aircraft indicate that every battleship was damaged by bombs, that at least one was torpedoed and one cruiser was torpedoed.

There was no hint in the communique whether the Japanese battleships were the older, slower classes or their new heavily armed and armored battlewagons which possibly have yet to see action.

The Japanese probably would not risk their better battleships in such comparatively tight spots as these inland seas and without carrier protection or a stronger land-based force than was indicated by their attack on the Princeton task group.

Nimitz never has reported whether any of Japan's six new battleships participated in the June 16-19 sea battle northeast of the Philippines which cost the Japanese nearly a score of warships sunk or damaged.

Unless they figured in that rout or are accompanying the imperial task force so badly crippled southeast of Formosa yesterday they have not yet participated in any fleet engagement.

The second force was sighted southwest of Negros island in the Sulu sea in the southwestern Philippines. It consisted of two battleships, one cruiser and four destroyers.

The Princeton is the second escort carrier lost by the U. S., the sixth flattop sunk. The carriers Lexington, Yorktown and Hornet were lost in the battles of the Coral sea, Midway and Santa Cruz, respectively. The Wasp went down to submarine torpedoes in the South Pacific. The escort carrier Liscombe Bay was torpedoed by land based Japanese aircraft while Mitscher's force was attacking Wotje and Jaluit atolls in neutralizing raids six weeks before American amphibious forces captured the Marshall Islands.

The Princeton was converted from a 10,000-ton light cruiser

Japs Claim 11 U. S. Ships Sunk, Admit They Lost 3

By the Associated Press

Japan's elusive fleet has at last come out to fight, and a Japanese imperial communique reported today three Nipponese and 11 American warships were sunk in a great sea-air battle raging in Philippine waters.

The communique asserted five other American warships were damaged in a fierce engagement which opened Tuesday morning (Manila time).

Tokyo radio, in unofficial broadcasts, asserted Japanese naval fire sank four aircraft carriers, two large cruisers and one destroyed. In the same action, Tokyo reports added, Japanese submarines sank more than four enemy transports.

Domei described a naval engagement in waters east of the Philippines where it said the American fleet was surrounded.

In an English-language broadcast to Australia, the Tokyo radio gave a play-by-play description of the sea battle.

Reception difficulties made transcription difficult, but monitors heard this Tokyo report:

"Early yesterday morning (Oct. 24), the Japanese air force discovered an enemy fleet and opened attack.

"On Oct. 25, the Japanese naval surface units made contact with the enemy task force. At 6:53 a. m. Japanese surface units caught sight of (masts) of the enemy task force in the waters 40 kilometers east of the Philippines.

"At 7 a. m. orders issued to get ready to fire. At 7:01 a. m., the enemy fleet attempted to run away.

"At 7:18 a. m. our naval units started fire.

"At 7:20 a. m. large enemy cruiser was sunk by our bombardment.

"At 7:30 a. m. the enemy task force changed their course to a southeastern direction and started to flee.

"Our naval units immediately pursued the fleeing enemy task force. At 7:36 a. m. two enemy aircraft carriers were bombarded and sunk. One of these sunken enemy aircraft carriers was confirmed as of the Enterprise type.

"At 8:03 a. m. Japanese units (commenced their) onslaught. In the meantime, the Japanese fleet intercepted enemy wireless (three words missed) 'Our fleet is being attacked by Japanese naval units, from a distance of 20,000 meters off. Send immediate aid.'

"At 8:25 a. m. two large enemy aircraft carriers were sunk.

"At 8:30 a. m. one large enemy cruiser and one destroyer were sunk.

"Five minutes later smoke began pouring, and the enemy fleet began fleeing under a smoke screen (3 words missing) . . . are even now in hot pursuit of the fleeing enemy task force."

Communique

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 25 (INS)—Text of Adm. Nimitz' communique on the sea and air battle raging in Philippine waters:

On Oct. 23 (west longitude date) searchers from carriers of the Third Fleet located two enemy forces headed eastward through the Philippine Archipelago. The first force which consisted of three or four battleships, 10 cruisers and about 13 destroyers was sighted south of Mindoro and later moved eastward through the Sibuyan sea. It was attacked repeatedly by carrier aircraft and incomplete reports indicate that all battleships were damaged by bombers, at least one was hit by a torpedo, and one cruiser was torpedoed.

A second enemy force was sighted in the Sulu sea southwest of Negros island which consisted of two battleships, one cruiser and four destroyers. Both battleships were damaged by bombs and the light units were severely strafed.

In the late afternoon of Oct. 23, a third enemy force was located southeast of Formosa approaching from Japanese home waters.

During the action on Oct. 23, a strong force of shore-based aircraft attacked one of the American task groups and succeeded in seriously damaging the U.S.S. Princeton, a light carrier. Subsequently the Princeton's magazines exploded and the ship, badly crippled, was sunk. Her captain and 133 other officers and 1227 enlisted men were saved. Casualties among her personnel were light. Approximately 150 enemy aircraft were shot down during this attack.

On Oct. 24 the enemy forces were brought to action. Reports which are as yet incomplete indicate that severe damage has been inflicted on the enemy, that at least one of his large carriers has been sunk and two others have been severely damaged. General action is continuing.

IN INDIA—Jinx Falkenburg, film star, arrived in India today with members of a USO company to entertain GI's of the India-Burma-China theater. It was in this area that dissension arose between movie stars and soldiers over cancellation of tours but Jinx' presence should oil the troubled waters.

British Gain On 15-Mile Dutch Front

By WILLIAM FRYE

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP)—British troops, turning flame-throwers against German bazooka nests, struck through the big Dutch road junction of Hertogenbosch in mopup operations today, and the Germans fell back on a 15-mile front above and below that key city.

Hertogenbosch was captured except for isolated enemy pockets. Supply roads north and south were snipped.

Canadians, meanwhile, made progress in two drives to clear the water approaches to Antwerp.

One Canadian prong hit toward Roosendaal and Bergen op Zoom, 22 and 20 miles north of Antwerp. The enemy was reported making local withdrawals below Breda and Tilburg.

Another Canadian column, striking west, advanced farther into the tip of South Beveland island. German guns there command the Schelde estuary lane to Antwerp.

Other Canadians advanced in diminishing Breskens pocket on the south shore of the estuary opposite Walcheren island.

Canadian-British offensives threatened the whole German stand below the Maas river.

The British reported capture of 1400 prisoners Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in the Hertogenbosch sector.

An Allied communique reported slight but steady Allied progress at the opposite end of the west front, with the forces in the Vosges mountains improving their positions, and troops northeast of Epinal making new gains.

From north of Aachen down to the area east of Luneville, there were no important changes in the front, said the communique. The German radio reported savage small-scale fighting near Embermen and indications that Lt. Gen. Patton's Third Army was preparing to drive north between Dieuze and Chateau Salins, east of Nancy.

Little more than patrol activity was reported by the communique in the Moselle valley.

Secret Weapon Hope Held

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 25 (AP)—Hunger and poverty are stalking through war-weary Hungary, but opinion there seems divided on the wisdom of continuing to fight on as a German ally, a Swedish woman who left Budapest a week ago told the Stockholm Dagens Nyheter today.

"Some trust in the German 'secret weapon,'" she said, "while others say the weapon is only "Goebbels" typewriter.

"German military trains constantly roll through Hungary toward the front and in every train there is one car with the inscription "may be opened only by order of the Fuehrer.' People say the secret weapon which is supposed to save the country is carried in it."

WEDDING BELLS — Belita, famous ice skating star, will become the bride of Bobby Specht in January, according to Hollywood reports. They go on tour as partners in her new company which opens in New York on Christmas Day.

APPROVE NAME—Sally Fletcher and Barbara Olin, both of Shrewsbury, students at Sargent school, read a copy of the letter from President Daniel Marsh of B. U. in which he states that the newest name for the famous school will be the Boston University School of Physical Education for Women, Sargent College. They approve the new name which was accepted by the student body.

M'Arthur Drive Takes 14 Towns

MacARTHUR HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Oct. 25 (AP)—Pushing all opposition aside and crushing feeble Japanese counterattacks, American forces liberated 14 more towns and barrios and advanced to the outskirts of Tabontabon, eight miles northwest of Dulag, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The advance is probably the longest made by MacArthur's men since the invasion started.

Capture of San Pablo airdrome, seven miles west of Dulag, was also confirmed.

After securing the San Pablo field—third airfield taken on Leyte—armored units of the 7th Division fanned out to the northward toward Dagmi, important road junction at the western edge of Leyte Valley. Elements of the 96th Division advanced to a point nine miles north of Catmon, enveloped Catmon Hill and pushed on to the approaches of Tabontabon.

Substantial gains west of Palo and Tacloban were made by units of the 10th Corps now pushing ahead from a line of hills seized from the Japanese, which dominate the coast between Palo and Tacloban.

In this sector the Japanese night infiltration tactics, employed so successfully in the early days of the war, met bloody failure.

Intermittent attacks by a few enemy planes continued. American fighter patrols beat them off. At least five Japanese planes were shot down.

Carrier planes from the Seventh Fleet are giving the ground forces continued close support.

Destruction or damaging of 64 enemy planes on Oct. 22 and 23 was disclosed by MacArthur. The damage was done by American planes striking Japanese airfields in the Western Visayas and Northern Mindanao.

New Red Drive Hits Poland

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Germany announced officially today a new Russian offensive along the Narew river in Poland between Warsaw and the southern boundary of invaded East Prussia.

The Berlin communique said Russian divisions struck from their bridgeheads at Senock and Rozan behind a drumfire artillery barrage and heavy aerial attacks.

The Germans have insisted that grand Russian strategy is to coordinate a drive from the Narew to the Baltic port of Danzig, 160 miles from Senock, with the invasion of East Prussia from the north and east.

5th, 8th Armies Gain in Italy

ROME, Oct. 25 (AP)—Fifth Army troops made important gains today in the mountainous approaches to the Italian communications hub of Bologna, while the Eighth Army rolled through receding German resistance in the Adriatic end of the Po valley.

After a week of bloody fighting Americans drove the Germans from Monte Belmonte, a mountain key to Bologna.

British and Canadians of the Eighth Army, after enlarging bridgeheads across the Savio at Cesena, are advancing northwestward astride the Bologna highway.

Churchill Stands Pat On 'Unconditional'

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill reiterated in Commons today that "unconditional surrender in the sense of no bargaining with the enemy is still the policy of the government," but declined to engage in a foreign affairs debate until his report Friday on his Moscow mission.

EDEN VISITS CAIRO

LONDON, Oct. 25 (INS)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, has been in the Egyptian capital since leaving Moscow and already has had an audience with King Farouk and informal meetings with Premier Ahmed Maher Pasha and Foreign Minister Norkrashi Pasha.

Yamamoto Once Filipino Captive

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (INS)—The late Adm. Isoroku Yamamoto, commander-in-chief of the combined Jap fleets who once said he would dictate peace terms from the White House, was for a time a prisoner of Filipino patriots before he died from injuries sustained in an aircraft, Gen. MacArthur disclosed today.

In a special proclamation to the Philippines praising the spadework done by guerilla forces throughout the islands prior to American invasion of Leyte, Gen. MacArthur also revealed capture of vital Japanese battle plans which vastly facilitated later liberation measures.

Tokyo radio announced May 21, 1943, Yamamoto, who directed the attack on Pearl Harbor, had been killed "abroard a warplane in the front line" during the previous month.

Dewey Swings to Home Issues in Talk Tonight

By LEO W. O'BRIEN

ABOARD DEWEY CAMPAIGN TRAIN EN ROUTE TO MILWAUKEE, Oct. 25 (INS)—Gov. Dewey returned to domestic issues today in his campaign for the presidency after pinning the tag of isolationism on President Roosevelt, under whose leadership, he charged, "America did her own bit toward the breakdown of international co-operation for peace."

After three hours in Milwaukee, Gov. Dewey will discuss "The Moral Issues of the Campaign" in a nationwide broadcast from Chicago tonight. He told 12,000 in Minneapolis last night that Mr. Roosevelt contributed, during the 1933-39 era, to developments which led to war.

Hotly disputing the President's charge that the Republican party is governed by the "heavy hand of isolationism," Gov. Dewey declared that his opponent "conveniently forgot" much of the story.

As one of his early acts as President, he said, Mr. Roosevelt "deliberately scuttled" the 1933 London economic conference, which the GOP nominee described as "our last chance to bring order out of the chaos of international money exchange and trade."

"That," he asserted, "was the most completely isolationist action ever taken by an American President in our 150 years of history."

The Republican nominee chose the home state of Sen. Ball, whose endorsement of President Roosevelt has created a furore in Minnesota politics, to declare that our participation in the world organization for peace "must not be subject to a reservation that would require our representative to return to Congress for authority every time he had to make a decision."

"Obviously," he added, "Congress, and only Congress, has the constitutional power to determine what quota of forces it will make available, and what discretion it will give our representative to use that force."

Charging that President Roosevelt in his Saturday night speech "once again sowed among us the seeds of disunity," Gov. Dewey asserted that Mr. Roosevelt in 1933 inherited a progressively improving structure of international co-operation, which he proceeded to break down.

He said that the President declared in 1933 that "We are not members of the League of Nations and we do not contemplate membership."

President Roosevelt, he asserted, "conveniently forgot" that he told Congress in January, 1940, that $1,800,000,000 would be enough for national defense, and referred to Mr. Dewey's call for a two-ocean Navy as "just plain dumb."

With France about to fall before the Nazi blitz, he tried to send home the Congress, which remained to pass the selective service act and appropriate 12 billion dollars for defense, Mr. Dewey said.

He also lashed the Roosevelt Administration for permitting huge shipments of scrap and oil to Japan at a time that nation was preparing to attack us.

"Mr. Roosevelt said last Saturday that we could have 'compromised' with Japan 'by selling out the heart's blood of the Chinese people.' Well, let's see what he did," Gov. Dewey said.

"In addition to scrap iron, he permitted the shipment of as much as three million barrels a month of oil, the heart's blood of war, for use against China and for storage against America. It continued to flow until July of 1941.

four months before Pearl Harbor."

Driving home his contention that an effective foreign policy and American participation in a workable world organization for peace best can be achieved by election of a Republican President, Gov. Dewey made public telegrams from six leading Republicans in Congress pledging their full support to his views.

The telegrams came from House Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Sens. White of Maine, Vandenberg, Michigan; Austin, Vermont; Taft, Ohio, and Wherry of Nebraska.

Probe Brutality To U. S. Airmen

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (INS)—An American military mission, it was disclosed today, has been sent into Bulgaria to investigate crimes against American fliers who were held as prisoners of war in that country before it capitulated to the Soviet advance Sept. 8.

GIVE INDUSTRY FREE HAND, BRICKER VIEW

By E. E. EASTERLY

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 25 (AP)—Gov. Bricker declared today that industry should be allowed to resume peacetime production as soon as possible and without government shackles.

The Republican vice-presidential nominee, in a prepared speech released by his campaign staff, quoted Vice-President Wallace as remarking:

"I don't see how we can get reconversion accomplished without disastrous consequences unless the government steps in as it did in conversion."

The Ohio governor, contending that New Deal restraints had prevented all-out production early in the war, added:

"If the government steps into postwar production, as it did into war production, Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Morgenthau will be playing with the destiny of American labor and industrial management to the tune called by Sidney Hillman and Earl Browder."

He asserted that Hillman, chairman of the Political Action Committee, and Browder, director of the Communist Political Ass'n, "want American business harnessed and hitched."

34,000,000 Cattle To Be Killed in 1945

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Slaughtr of 34,000,000 head of cattle, 1,000,000 more than this year, has been recommended to War Food Administrator Marvin Jones as the 1945 goal by his meat committee. It also suggested spring pig crop goals remain about the same as 1944.

FD All Set for 2-Day Political Road Show

By HOWARD FLIEGER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt's fourth term bid took on the trappings of a full-production political road show today, with the President scheduled for train platform appearances, speeches and automobile tours on a two-day swing to the Middle West.

The trip will wind up Saturday night with a speech in Chicago's Soldier's Field—24 hours after the President speaks in Shibe Park, Philadelphia. Both addresses will be broadcast nationally.

He will make a train platform speech at Wilmington, Del., Friday morning, drive to Camden, N. J., during the day and make an automobile tour of the town square, and inspect the Cramp Ship Yards in Philadelphia.

He will make a rear platform appearance at Ft. Wayne, Ind., but no speech is planned there.

The two-day itinerary fits closely into the pattern of the third term race.

Four Escape Beachmont Fire

Aroused by a passer, a Beachmont woman and her three children fled to safety today when flames raced through their bungalow in Bradstreet ave., Beachmont.

The victims, Mrs. Robert Flynn, and her children, Patricia, 7, Robert, 5, and Roberta, 3, sought refuge at the home of relatives nearby.

David Delorey, a Beachmont taxi driver, saw flames reflected against a window as he drove past the dwelling. He pounded on the door until the mother awoke and then helped her in getting the children out. Fire officials gave no cause or damage immediately.

Court Bars Union's Forced Political Dues

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25 (AP)—Officers of the AFL Screen Office Employes' Guild may not oust from good standing any members who refuse to pay union assessments for political purposes, Superior Judge Clarence M. Hanson has decreed in issuing a temporary restraining order.

Six union mmbers who asked an injunction against officers alleged that the membership of 2800 had been notified that regular dues would not be accepted unless accompanied by political assssments ranging from $1 to $2.

Plans Completed For F. D. Speech Here

All arrangements were completed today for President Roosevelt's campaign speech at the Boston Garden on Saturday night, Nov. 4, Democratic officials here announced today.

The President's appearance at the Garden will follow by three nights that of the Republican nominee, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who will speak at the Garden on the night of Wednesday, Nov. 1.

GOP Women Ring Doorbells for Dewey

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (INS)—Throughout the nation 5,000,000 Republican women are ringing doorbells today and distributing campaign literature in a drive to "double the vote for Dewey."

The big, one-day drive will be climaxed tonight with thousands of rallies at which the audiences will listen to Gov. Deweys' broadcast.

Dorchester Lad Wins Air Medal

Word was received from the War Department today by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hyman of Willowwood st., Dorchester, that their 19-year-old son, S-Sgt. Jack Hyman, a member of the 15th U. S. Air Force in Italy, was awarded the Air Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster.

Sgt. Hyman

Sgt. Hyman, graduate of Dorchester High School, is a tail gunner. He recently completed 30 missions in the European theater. He wrote a letter to his parents and at the end added a postscript note that he had been given a decoration. He entered the service a little over a year ago.

American Pressman Killed in Action

PFC John F. DeFreytas, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. DeFreytas of St. Botolph st., Back Bay, has been killed in action in France, the War Department notified his parents today.

He was a pressman with the Record-American, Sunday Advertiser before entering the Army in February, 1943. He had been overseas a year.

A pro-burial mass will be celebrated in St. Cecelia's Church, Back Bay, at 9 a. m. Monday.

Besides his parents, he leaves a brother, Charles M., former Navy chief pharmacist's mate, medically discharged after being wounded at Guadalcanal.

KIDNAP SCARE—Sheila Russell, 2½, of Woodcliff st., Roxbury, is back in the arms of her mother, Mrs. James Russell, after she had allegedly been lured from outside her home by a man who had offered to buy her ice cream. She was found three hours later at a Dorchester home where the man left her, saying he had found her crying nearby. INP by Larry McDavitt.

Train Kills Schoolboy, 11, Playing Hookey in Lynn

Two small figures trudged along the railroad tracks near the Shepard st. bridge of the Boston & Maine in Lynn, today, so engrossed in their plans to "see the world" they didn't hear a Boston-bound express train behind them.

Engineer Joseph Gillis sounded his whistle. The momentum of the express was too much to halt in the seconds left. Two small boys were going to die unless they jumped quickly.

Gillis had time for one final, desperate blast of the whistle.

One boy leaped to safety.

The other moved a fraction of a second too late. Richard Winchell, 11, of Church st., Lynn, was hurled to his death.

Norman Crosby, 10, of Church st., Lynn, Richard's companion, sobbed out to police the story of how they happened to be walking along the tracks.

Richard had come to his room in the Washington Community school this morning and told the teacher Norman was wanted by Miss Edna Legro, the principal. It was a fib, Richard confided to Norman as they walked along the corridor. It was just a way of getting Norman out of school so they could play hookey.

It had seemed like a good idea at the time, Norman tearfully related. Then they decided to go "adventuring." They would run away from home. Railroad tracks were indicated.

"Then the train came," the boy said.

Richard Winchell's little form was taken to Lynn Hospital but he was beyond help.

Out of the same hospital only four days ago had come his mother, Mrs. Herbert E. Winchell, who had been severely ill. Today, still not fully recovered, she was rendered prostrate by the news of Richard's death.

There are six other children in the family, but Richard was her youngest.

Tells Court Why He Killed Cheating Refugee Wife

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Sometimes weeping, frequently incoherent, a slight, black-haired Canadian is telling the Kings County Court this week the story of a broken fidelity pact allegedly based on the Old Testament which the prosecution says led him to bludgeon to death his pretty refugee wife, a former Viennese actress.

The man is Lewis Wolfe, 37, whose wife, Mona, 26, was killed in their room at a Brooklyn hotel last Dec. 30, a few days after she came to this country from Palestine where they were married in 1940. He is charged with first degree murder.

Lewis Wolfe

MONA WOLFE
Mate on Trial as Her Slayer

Wolfe testified his wife confessed to him acts of unfaithfulness committed on the ship which brought her to America. As a result, the prosecution says, he picked up a metal-cleated shoe while his wife slept beside him and killed her—but in accordance with her own wishes, Wolfe maintains.

In New York, Wolfe said, she confessed infidelity and told him she should die and if he were a man he would kill her.

"I said to her," said Wolfe in a statement read at the trial, "'You know I couldn't do that because I love you too much,' and then after awhile I thought I wasn't a man—maybe she was right."

In direct testimony he added: "Something snapped in my right temple. A strong voice was calling into my left ear, 'kill her' In my right ear a smaller voice whispered, 'don't kill her. You have no right.'"

"I jumped out of bed. The strong voice kept saying, 'You didn't sleep Sunday—She did. You didn't sleep Monday night or Tuesday night—shes lept. You didn't eat—she ate. Kill her. You won't know calm until you kill her. Pick up the black shoe. Strike her. Strike her again! Kill!'"

Public to Air Views on Schools

The Boston public is to get a chance to express its views on the critical Strayer Survey, which so roundly condemns conditions in the city's schools.

Sea-Hopping Baby Okays New Home

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 25 (AP)—Solemn, wide-eyed Kenneth Barry Maloney, aged 6 months, already has started to fill in part of the gap made in the family when his Army pilot father, Lt. Kenneth Maloney, was killed in England, according to Mrs. William Maloney, the baby's grandmother.

Not more than a half hour after she arrived from New York with the baby, who came to this country via Army transport from Britain, Mrs. Maloney looked at her husband and said, "The baby will help, won't he?"

Totally unimpressed by the international stir he has caused, "Kenny," as his new family calls him, gurgled happily as he was whisked off to his new home, complete with a play-room, his own nursery and a dog. Awaiting the chubby youngster was his 7-year-old uncle, Johnny Maloney, who had stayed home from school just to see Kenny.

Kenny slipped into the routine of the big house, which for years has been full of children. "Our house wouldn't be a home if we didn't have children here," Mrs. Maloney said, recalling that in addition to their own four children she and her husband have reared five others.

Dewey Swings to Home Issues in Talk Tonight

By LEO W. O'BRIEN

ABOARD DEWEY CAMPAIGN TRAIN EN ROUTE TO MILWAUKEE, Oct. 25 (INS)—Gov. Dewey returned to domestic issues today in his campaign for the presidency after pinning the tag of isolationism on President Roosevelt, under whose leadership, he charged, "America did her own bit toward the breakdown of international co-operation for peace."

After three hours in Milwaukee, Gov. Dewey will discuss "The Moral Issues of the Campaign" in a nationwide broadcast from Chicago tonight. He told 12,000 in Minneapolis last night that Mr. Roosevelt contributed, during the 1933-39 era, to developments which led to war.

Hotly disputing the President's charge that the Republican party is governed by the "heavy hand of isolationism," Gov. Dewey declared that his opponent "conveniently forgot" much of the story.

As one of his early acts as President, he said, Mr. Roosevelt "deliberately scuttled" the 1933 London economic conference, which the GOP nominee described as "our last chance to bring order out of the chaos of international money exchange and trade."

"That," he asserted, "was the most completely isolationist action ever taken by an American President in our 150 years of history."

The Republican nominee chose the home state of Sen. Ball, whose endorsement of President Roosevelt has created a furore in Minnesota politics, to declare that our participation in the world organization for peace "must not be subject to a reservation that would require our representative to return to Congress for authority every time he had to make a decision."

"Obviously," he added, "Congress, and only Congress, has the constitutional power to determine what quota of forces it will make available, and what discretion it will give our representative to use that force."

Charging that President Roosevelt in his Saturday night speech "once again sowed among us the seeds of disunity," Gov. Dewey asserted that Mr. Roosevelt in 1933 inherited a progressively improving structure of international co-operation, which he proceeded to break down.

He said that the President declared in 1933 that "We are not members of the League of Nations and we do not contemplate membership."

President Roosevelt, he asserted, "conveniently forgot" that he told Congress in January, 1940, that $1,800,000,000 would be enough for national defense, and referred to Mr. Dewey's call for a two-ocean Navy as "just plain dumb."

With France about to fall before the Nazi blitz, he tried to send home the Congress, which remained to pass the selective service act and appropriate 12 billion dollars for defense, Mr. Dewey said.

He also lashed the Roosevelt Administration for permitting huge shipments of scrap and oil to Japan at a time that nation was preparing to attack us.

"Mr. Roosevelt said last Saturday that we could have 'compromised' with Japan 'by selling out the heart's blood of the Chinese people.' Well, let's see what he did," Gov. Dewey said.

"In addition to scrap iron, he permitted the shipment of as much as three million barrels a month of oil, the heart's blood of war, for use against China and for storage against America. It continued to flow until July of 1941, four months before Pearl Harbor."

Driving home his contention that an effective foreign policy and American participation in a workable world organization for peace best can be achieved by election of a Republican President, Gov. Dewey made public telegrams from six leading Republicans in Congress pledging their full support to his views.

The telegrams came from House Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., Sens. White of Maine, Vandenberg, Michigan; Austin, Vermont; Taft, Ohio, and Wherry of Nebraska.

GIVE INDUSTRY FREE HAND, BRICKER VIEW

By E. E. EASTERLY

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 25 (AP)—Gov. Bricker declared today that industry should be allowed to resume peacetime production as soon as possible and without government shackles.

The Republican vice-presidential nominee, in a prepared speech released by his campaign staff, quoted Vice-President Wallace as remarking:

"I don't see how we can get reconversion accomplished without disastrous consequences unless the government steps in as it did in conversion."

The Ohio governor, contending that New Deal restraints had prevented all-out production early in the war, added:

"If the government steps into postwar production, as it did into war production, Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Morgenthau will be playing with the destiny of American labor and industrial management to the tune called by Sidney Hillman and Earl Browder."

He asserted that Hillman, chairman of the Political Action Committee, and Browder, director of the Communist Political Ass'n, "want American business harnessed and hitched."

34,000,000 Cattle To Be Killed in 1945

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Slaughtr of 34,000,000 head of cattle, 1,000,000 more than this year, has been recommended to War Food Administrator Marvin Jones as the 1945 goal by his meat committee. It also suggested spring pig crop goals remain about the same as 1944.

FD All Set for 2-Day Political Road Show

By HOWARD FLIEGER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt's fourth term bid took on the trappings of a full-production political road show today, with the President scheduled for train platform appearances, speeches and automobile tours on a two-day swing to the Middle West.

The trip will wind up Saturday night with a speech in Chicago's Soldier's Field 24 hours after the President speaks in Shibe Park, Philadelphia. Both addresses will be broadcast nationally.

He will make a train platform speech at Wilmington, Del., Friday morning, drive to Camden, N. J., during the day and make an automobile tour of the town square, and inspect the Cramp Ship Yards in Philadelphia.

He will make a rear platform appearance at Ft. Wayne, Ind., but no speech is planned there.

The two-day itinerary fits closely into the pattern of the third term race.

Four Escape Beachmont Fire

Aroused by a passer, a Beachmont woman and her three children fled to safety today when flames raced through their bungalow in Bradstreet ave., Beachmont.

The victims, Mrs. Robert Flynn, and her children, Patricia, 7, Robert, 5, and Roberta, 3, sought refuge at the home of relatives nearby.

David Delorey, a Beachmont taxi driver, saw flames reflected against a window as he drove past the dwelling. He pounded on the door until the mother awoke and then helped her in getting the children out. Fire officials gave no cause or damage immediately.

Court Bars Union's Forced Political Dues

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25 (AP)—Officers of the AFL Screen Office Employes' Guild may not oust from good standing any members who refuse to pay union assessments for political purposes, Superior Judge Clarence M. Hanson has decreed in issuing a temporary restraining order.

Six union mmbers who asked an injunction against officers alleged that the membership of 2800 had been notified that regular dues would not be accepted unless accompanied by political assssments ranging from $1 to $2.

Plans Completed For F. D. Speech Here

All arrangements were completed today for President Roosevelt's campaign speech at the Boston Garden on Saturday night, Nov. 4, Democratic officials here announced today.

The President's appearance at the Garden will follow by three nights that of the Republican nominee, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who will speak at the Garden on the night of Wednesday, Nov. 1.

GOP Women Ring Doorbells for Dewey

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (INS)—Throughout the nation 5,000,000 Republican women are ringing doorbells today and distributing campaign literature in a drive to "double the vote for Dewey."

The big, one-day drive will be climaxed tonight with thousands of rallies at which the audiences will listen to Gov. Dewey's broadcast.

Dorchester Lad Wins Air Medal

Word was received from the War Department today by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hyman of Willowwood st., Dorchester, that their 19-year-old son, S-Sgt. Jack Hyman, a member of the 15th U. S. Air Force in Italy, was awarded the Air Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster.

Sgt. Hyman

Sgt. Hyman, graduate of Dorchester High School, is a tail gunner. He recently completed 30 missions in the European theater. He wrote a letter to his parents and at the end added a postscript note that he had been given a decoration. He entered the service a little over a year ago.

American Pressman Killed in Action

PFC John F. DeFreytas, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. DeFreytas of St. Botolph st., Back Bay, has been killed in action in France, the War Department notified his parents today.

He was a pressman with the Record-American, Sunday Advertiser before entering the Army in February, 1943. He had been overseas a year.

A pro-burial mass will be celebrated in St. Cecelia's Church, Back Bay, at 9 a. m. Monday.

Besides his parents, he leaves a brother, Charles M., former Navy chief pharmacist's mate, medically discharged after being wounded at Guadalcanal.

KIDNAP SCARE—Sheila Russell, 2½, of Woodcliff st., Roxbury, is back in the arms of her mother, Mrs. James Russell, after she had allegedly been lured from outside her home by a man who had offered to buy her ice cream. Train Kills Schoolboy, 11, Playing Hookey in Lynn

Two small figures trudged along the railroad tracks near the Shepard st. bridge of the Boston & Maine in Lynn, today, so engrossed in their plans to "see the world" they didn't hear a Boston-bound express train behind them.

Engineer Joseph Gillis sounded his whistle. The momentum of the express was too much to halt in the seconds left. Two small boys were going to die unless they jumped quickly.

Gillis had time for one final, desperate blast of the whistle.

One boy leaped to safety.

The other moved a fraction of a second too late. Richard Winchell, 11, of Church st., Lynn, was hurled to his death.

Norman Crosby, 10, of Church st., Lynn, Richard's companion, sobbed out to police the story of how they happened to be walking along the tracks.

Richard had come to his room in the Washington Community school this morning and told the teacher Norman was wanted by Miss Edna Legro, the principal. It was a fib, Richard confided to Norman as they walked along the corridor. It was just a way of getting Norman out of school so they could play hookey.

It had seemed like a good idea at the time, Norman tearfully related. Then they decided to go "adventuring." They would run away from home. Railroad tracks were indicated.

"Then the train came," the boy said.

Richard Winchell's little form was taken to Lynn Hospital but he was beyond help.

Out of the same hospital only four days ago had come his mother, Mrs. Herbert E. Winchell, who had been severely ill. Today, still not fully recovered, she was rendered prostrate by the news of Richard's death.

There are six other children in the family, but Richard was her youngest.

Tells Court Why He Killed Cheating Refugee Wife

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Sometimes weeping, frequently incoherent, a slight, black-haired Canadian is telling the Kings County Court this week the story of a broken fidelity pact allegedly based on the Old Testament which the prosecution says led him to bludgeon to death his pretty refugee wife, a former Viennese actress.

The man is Lewis Wolfe, 37, whose wife, Mona, 26, was killed in their room at a Brooklyn hotel last Dec. 30, a few days after she came to this country from Palestine where they were married in 1940. He is charged with first degree murder.

MONA WOLFE
Mate on Trial as Her Slayer

Wolfe testified his wife confessed to him acts of unfaithfulness committed on the ship which brought her to America. As a result, the prosecution says, he picked up a metal-cleated shoe while his wife slept beside him and killed her—but in accordance with her own wishes, Wolfe maintains.

In New York, Wolfe said, she confessed infidelity and told him she should die and if he were a man he would kill her.

"I said to her," said Wolfe in a statement read at the trial, "'You know I couldn't do that because I love you too much,' and then after awhile I thought I wasn't a man—maybe she was right."

In direct testimony he added: "Something snapped in my right temple. A strong voice was calling into my left ear, 'kill her' In my right ear a smaller voice whispered, 'don't kill her. You have no right.'"

"I jumped out of bed. The strong voice kept saying, 'You didn't sleep Sunday—She did. You didn't sleep Monday night or Tuesday night—shes lept. You didn't eat she are. Kill her. You won't know calm until you kill her. Pick up the black shoe. Strike her. Strike her again! Kill!'"

Kelly-Barnes Contest Sizzles

By FRANK REILLY

The battle for election as attorney general, eclipsed until now by the presidential and gubernatorial contests, is gradually becoming one of the most colorful of the election campaign.

Former Lt. Gov. Francis E. Kelly of Dorchester is Democratic nominee for the post, while the Republican standard bearer is Governor's Councilor Clarence A. Barnes of Mansfield.

Choice of a victor will probably rest with the independent voters of the Commonwealth, since both contestants appear to have the united support of members of their respective parties. Inter-party opposition to Kelly which was manifest in previous campaigns for public office is nowhere in evidence now, and Democratic journals, which in the past ignored him, are now giving space to his publicity.

Atty. Barnes has long been active in affairs of his party and was a leader in the movement to nominate Gov. Dewey as the Republican candidate for president.

Many well-known Republican attorneys are supporting the Barnes candidacy, among them Wendell P. Murray, while Democratic barristers actively engaged in the Kelly campaign include Henry P. Fielding, who served as assistant attorney general under Paul A. Dever.

Supporters of Atty. Barnes have stressed that their man is a veteran member of the bar who has a widespread acquaintance among jurists and prosecuting officers of the Commonwealth.

Kelly has conducted a vigorous campaign and has charged that Barnes, during his public career, opposed women's suffrage, labor legislation and the establishment of evening law schools.

Lt. Gov. Horace T. Cahill, Republican nominee for governor, today appealed to veterans to support his candidacy.

"My opponent," he said, "tries to impress the voters of the Commonwealth with his knowledge of veterans' legislation. I would like to know how he acquired his knowledge of the needs of the veterans. I entered the service of my country in the last war as a private and rose to the rank of lieutenant. After the war I became an active member of the American Legion.

"I believe I can safely leave the question of who is better qualified to take care of the needs of the returning veterans in the hands of the electorate on Tuesday, Nov. 7."

Cahill will speak tonight at rallies in Fall River Masonic Temple and the New Bedford Hotel in New Bedford.

Mayor Tobin returns to Boston tonight for speeches at the Parker House, where he will address Gold Star Mothers and veterans of the present conflict, and at Seaverns Hall, Jamaica Plain, where he will be guest of members of the Arboretum Club.

Tomorrow the mayor will resume active direction of his campaign in the Greater Boston area.

At rallies in Blackstone and Southbridge, Tobin discussed plans to speed up transportation between farm and city markets. He said new intrastate airports should be constructed with the co-operation of the federal governmen.

"If federal help is not forthcoming," the mayor said, "the state should go ahead with such a program.

PERKY PEIGNOIR— and what's a peignoir you ask? In the September issue of one of the foremost fashion magazines you can see a picture of one on page 133—the dictionary defines this French confection as a dressing gown or negligee. In this noted magazine there are two pictures—the one on the left hand side sold in a leading New York store for $20.95—and believe it or not the leading feminine member of one of Boston's best known families walked through Filene's Basement and bought one of these blue taffeta peignoirs with lace ruffles for $16.50—she also purchased another blue dressing gown for $16.50 and her friend bought one for $9. They came in for fashion and because of hardly noticeable slight soil from handling they went out with savings. A typical example of how this unique bargain store provides fashion as new as your current fashion magazines and lowers your cost of dressing fashionably at the same time. into an escort carrier after construction was started. She was launched Oct 18, 1942, and commissioned last year.

She carried about 45 combat aircraft, which could have landed on accompanying carriers.

The Princeton, of the Independence class, was rated at 33 knots and was equipped to carry any type of carrier planes—dive bombed, torpedo or fighter.

A fleet spokesman said the name of the Princeton's captain was not announced because a new skipper had been assigned to her and it was not known whether he had taken charge or the retiring captain was still aboard.

Destruction of 150 planes increased the aircraft toll exacted of the Japanese by the Halsey-Mitscher forces since about Sept. 1 to between 2425 and 2435.

From Aug. 1 to date, 245 Japanese ships have been sunk, 56 probably sunk and 298 others damaged, a total of 589, exclusive of small craft.

U. S. forces have sunk at least 13 Jap carriers of all classes and damaged at least eight others. Two enemy flattops were destroyed in the battle of the Coral sea, six at Midway, one at Santa Cruz, one in the Philippines sea, one in the current Formosa action and two by submarines.

Chinese Recapture Sinning From Japs

CHUNGKING, Oct. 25 (AP)—Chinese troops have recaptured Sinning, an important point in the enemy's right flank 90 miles north of Kwelilin, the Chinese high command announced today.

The announcement said the beaten Japanese retreated toward Tuagan, on the Hunan-Kwangsi railway northeast of Kweilin and site of a former American airbase.

Japs Claim Sinking Of British Carrier

LONDON, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Tokyo radio asserted today that a British aircraft carrier of the Indomitable class was sunk after a raid on the Nicobar Islands in the Bay of Bengal when a Japanese fighter plane crash-dived on it.

OPA Widens Hotel, Market Probe for Point Shortages

The OPA today continued a survey of point shortages in Greater Boston hotels, inns and markets following a series of suspensions for shortages which included the first duration shutdown in the area. Offender was the Codman Square Market.

OPA hearing Commr. Raymond C. Baldes found that Eli Cohen, proprietor of the market, had made a false statement in an application for reimbursement of an alleged theft and was 248.-474 red points short. Cohen's license to buy or sell any rationed meats, fats or dairy products was suspended, effective Nov. 6 for the duration.

The Pen Tap, Inc., operators of the Hotel Gralyn at Charlesgate west and the Putnam Hotel Co. of Huntington ave., were found to have claimed serving huge numbers of persons above what they actually served in applying for red points, and their right to rationed meats and fats was suspended until Dec. 6.

The Cock Horse Inn, Brattle st., Cambridge, received a similar suspension until Nov. 11 for a red point shortage of 43,109 points, and the New Moon, Inc., a Newburyport turnpike diner, a suspension to Dec. 29 for a red point indebtedness of 122,000 points to their suppliers.

Splendid Cough Syrup Easily Mixed at Home

It's So Easy! Makes a Big Saving. No Cooking.

To get quick and satisfying relief from coughs due to colds, mix this recipe in your own kitchen. Once tried you'll never be without it, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, known for its effect on throat and bronchial membranes.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid medicine and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, it is amazing. You can feel it take hold in a way that means business. It loosens phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and let's you get restful sleep. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

Sister Kenny in N.Y. To Show Polio Cure

Special to Boston Evening American

NEW YORK, Oct. 25—Sister Elizabeth Kenny has arrived here to present to the New York medical profession documentary proof of her remarkable success in treating infantile paralysis.

The Australian nurse, whose revolutionary method of treatment of poliomyelitis has astounded the world of medicine and brought new hope to sufferers from the malady, will be the guest of the N. Y. Journal-American and other Hearst newspapers during her week's stay.

Her visit is at the express invitation of Dr. James Perkins, director of the State Division of Communicable Diseases. Her niece, Mary Kenny, is with her.

"I have a documentary film with me," she said, "and through its presentation to leading medical men, I will show case histories of infantile paralysis victims who were restored to normal, healthy conditions under the Kenny treatment."

The film, four years in the making, will be shown in conjunction with her personal lectures before medical societies here all this week. It is a pictorial presentation of polio patients arriving at her Kenny institute in Minneapolis, on stretchers, in wheel chairs and in the arms of their parents or family physicians.

Subsequent scenes depict Sister Kenny's diagnosis of the disease and her personally supervised treatment of the sufferers.

Later the film shows the complete recovery of the patients and their departure from the institute—walking, unaided.

None of her patients was left with deformities.

"The film, she continued, "is positive evidence of the early symptoms of the disease, the early and proper diagnosis, and the method to be used to prevent deformities."

Pick First Questions For History Awards

Questions to be answered by contestants in the elimination examinations to be held Nov. 30 in the William Randolph Hearst National American History awards were being formulated today by the contest committee.

At the same time bulletins announcing the 1944 contest were sent out to all Boston public schools by Supt. Arthur L. Gould, and Rev. William J. Daly, Diocesan Supervisor of Parochial Schools, was preparing similar notifications.

The local committee, consisting of Francis A. Smith, professor of history at Girls High School, who is also president of the Council of History Teachers of Boston, which includes Dr. Gould and Rev. Daly, announced the final examinations for Boston will be held in Faneuil Hall on Monday, Dec. 11.

The elimination examinations to be held in both public and parochial schools on Nov. 30 will consist of 20 questions on American history and the writing of an essay of not more than 250 words on a subject to be announced later.

Twenty-five thousand dollars in war bonds will be distributed as prizes in 13 cities where the competition is being sponsored by Hearst newspapers. The national first prize will be $2000 in bonds, with second prize $1000, third, $500, fourth to ninth, $100 each, and $50 each to the next 31 contestants.

One thousand dollars in bonds and a $100 set of history books will be awarded, in addition, by the Boston Record-American-Sunday Advertiser. The local bond prizes are: first, $200, second, $100, third, $75, fourth, fifth and sixth, $50, and seventh to 25th, bonds worth $25 each.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones see a visitor coming

THE Joneses are hospitable folks. But every year about this time they are disturbed by reminders that an unwelcome guest is on the way. Jack Frost is his name — and he usually stays a long while.

So the Joneses, this year more than ever, because of government restrictions on their fuel supply, are learning to get the most out of their heating equipment and their Anthracite supply.

Anthracite, the modern fuel, gives more even, healthful, safe and economical heat, if properly fired, than any other fuel. Take these few simple steps in order to help keep your home warm and cozy all winter long.

1. Be sure your house is heat-tight; your heating equipment clean and free from leaks.

2. Ask your dealer about the no-priority, time and coal saving thermostats now available. They cost about $25, plus installation, and will help keep your home at an even, comfortable temperature with less coal and fewer trips downstairs.

3. Get the Anthracite Conservation Booklet from your dealer. It will tell you the best methods of firing your furnace so as to obtain the maximum heat from a minimum amount of coal.

By following this advice now, you will help us provide you with your full share of radiant Anthracite heat. Anthracite Industries, Inc., 101 Park Avenue, New York 17.

 Imagine a completely automatic Anthracite heater, many times smaller than any furnace or boiler in existence today, efficient, powerful, inexpensive. This hard coal heater will be yours after the war.*

Nazi Slave Labor Revolts Feared

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 24 (delayed) (AP)—The German workers' newspaper Der Angriff frankly discussed today the possibility of uprisings by foreign workers in Germany but believed the newly mobilized Home Guard could handle any outbreaks pending arrival of regular troops.

The paper said doubtless some "adventurers" might try to start trouble, but added that the majority of foreigners of whom it has been estimated there are about 12,000,000 in Germany, were "too wise" to follow them.

The article disclosed that foreign workers in German factories range from 20 to 80 per cent

Veterans' Friend

Q I am the widow of a soldier who was killed during the Normandy invasion. Besides myself, he left three small children. I received the six months' gratuity pay and also monthly payments on his National Service Life Insurance. In addition, I receive now a pension of $91 for myself and children. I would like to know if application for my husband's Social Security can be made due to the fact that he has been paying into the fund since 1938, entering the service in 1943. A. C., Charlestown.

A Yes, you may apply for the Social Security benefits. You are eligible to receive payments monthly for yourself and each of the children. Social Security payments are made regardless of other assistance you receive from the government if you are so entitled.

Q Can a boy 18 be rejected from service due to the fact he suffered from a slight touch of infantile paralysis, but left no physical defects?

E. M. M., Beverly.

A Acceptance or rejection is left entirely to Army medical officers at time of induction, if he is physically able to carry on military duty he is accepted.

Q My brother-in-law, now serving with U. S. Army in Italy, is getting married to an Italian girl. Can he send his wife to the United States while he still serves in Italy? A. V. A., Boston

A It is possible, but not probable. Wife would have to obtain visa to enter U. S., and at present no consuls are established in Italy. Furthermore, the transportation problem is acute as no passenger ships are as yet operating across the Atlantic for civilian use. When these difficulties are overcome, no doubt after war, the bride may then be allowed to enter the greatest nation on the world.

Q I am honorably discharged from the U. S. Coast Guard. I would like to receive the honorable discharge service pin awarded veterans of World War II. Please inform me where to apply.

J. B., Allston

A Bring your discharge papers to Personnel Officer, U. S. Coast Guard District Hq., 99 Bond st., Boston.

Q If a soldier is confined to a hospital does he receive his pay or is it stopped until he is able to resume active duty?

A. S., Brookline.

A If the soldier's illness is contracted in line of duty, that is through no misconduct of his own, his pay continues.

(Questions submitted to Veterans' Friend Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston 6, Mass., will be answered in this daily column.)

Silver Star Honors Memory of Marine

Posthumous award of the Silver Star Medal to Marine PFC James H. Quinn, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Quinn of Linden st., Lowell, was announced today by Marine Corps headquarters.

The Lowell youth was killed in action on Cape Gloucester last Dec. 26, after he volunteered to man a bazooka, crawled within a few yards of a heavily defended Jap pillbox and made three direct hits on it before he was struck by enemy machine gun fire.

DON'T ABANDON G. I. JOE

WARREN H. ATHERTON, past national commander of the American Legion, has vigorously condemned the New Deal's interpretation of the Veterans' Loan Provision in the G. I. Bill of Rights.

"The New Deal," Mr. Atherton recently told a Chicago audience, "has given convincing evidence of how it will NOT help the returning veterans.

"If a G. I. wants to buy a service station, he must fill out a questionnaire giving his life history, credit record and experience.

"He files that with a bank. If the bank approves it, the application goes to the local Veterans' Administrator. An appraiser is appointed.

"The application is referred to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. If the application is for a home, it goes to the National Housing Agency. If it is for a farm, it goes to the Agricultural Department.

"Then all these reports are referred to the Veterans' Administration. By that time, somebody else will have bought the service station and the returned soldier will be on relief.

"I defy any deserving G. I. Joe or Jane to get a dollar to buy a hot dog stand, a service station, a house or a farm under those glassy-eyed, stony-hearted, loan-shark regulations."

IT WAS not the purpose of Congress to make the lives of home-coming servicemen miserable with needless red tape.

Senators and Representatives who supported the G. I. Bill of Rights, one of the greatest of our country's laws, wanted the men and women in the fighting forces to receive the financial assistance which the grateful country owed them.

The complicated rules and regulations which seem likely to nullify the expressed desires of the people's elected representatives were written and forced upon the veterans by the bureaucrats who clutter New Deal Washington.

This knowledge prompted Former Commander Atherton further to say:

"One of the first acts of the Roosevelt Administration upon assuming power twelve years ago was the miscalled Economy Act, which reduced the benefits of World War I veterans sharply and eliminated thousands of servicemen's pensions.

"The President's Economy Act produced one of the most tragic spectacles in the nation's history. Out of the government hospitals poured veterans who could not prove their disabilities occurred from service. Some were led away blind. Others were taken away in wheel chairs.

"All this happened under an Administration that spent twenty-five billion dollars from 1933 to 1939 for every conceivable form of relief and waste in the richest country in the world.

"Must the veteran of today's blood-soaked battlefields look forward to years of leaf-raking and the dole?"

MR. ATHERTON'S question is proper and pertinent. The G. I. Bill of Rights will prevent leaf-raking and doles for the men who are winning this war if—AND ONLY IF—the legislation is administered strictly in accordance with the wishes of the millions of Americans who sincerely believe that the nation cannot do too much for its heroic defenders.

Neither the loan provisions nor any other section of the Bill should be twisted, warped and perverted into empty promises by the over-zealous bureaucrats of the New Deal.

A MARINE sergeant requests a poem to enclose with a gift to his wife whom he describes as "a very cute, little trick." We hope the above will be satisfactory . . . Red-haired women attract the most male attention. A passing strawberry blonde generally inspires a "double take" or second look from most men. Though the red-heads top the list in attracting men, they are in fourth place when it comes to holding them. Brown-haired women are best at keeping males caged. Natural blondes second; brunettes, third; red-heads, fourth. Or so the research of our Horses & Women Department indicates. Must consult Jeanette MacDonald about this.

WAGERING: "More money is bet on collegiate football and basketball than on horse racing," states Dr. Forrest C. Allen of Kansas University. He's right about that. The silver lining in the cloud of horse race wagering is that it is taxed. Too bad all types of wagering can't be taxed. Mexico once had a law calling for a tax of 6 per cent on all wagers of any kind made in that country. Imagine what the U. S. government could collect in taxes with a law like that. In New York city alone the total of all types of wagering probably averages fifty million dollars a day.

WASHINGTON SCENE

By GEORGE DIXON

(Distributed by King Features Synd., Inc. Reproduction Prohibited)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—Mr. Walter O'Keefe, the comedian, is a man of deep learning and academic attainments, but I am afraid he is inclined to be a bit provincial. He does not seem to have the broad Washington viewpoint.

Walter O'Keefe

He was in town the other day to absorb a little culture and dough, and got to talking about his tax problems.

"I would go to see Secretary Morgenthau," he said, "except that I am sure he is too busy with foreign affairs."

I tried to tell him he had the wrong secretary; that Mr. Hull attends to foreign affairs and Mr. Morgenthau to finances. But Mr. O'Keefe was unreceptive.

"You can't fool me," he said. "I read the newspapers. If what you say is true, why has Mr. Morgenthau taken over the administration of Germany?"

★ ★ ★

BUT WHAT I wanted to tell you about is Mr. O'Keefe's provincialism. He has become so backwoodsy trying to run a Connecticut farm that he does not have the large cosmopolitan attitude toward our imposing society matrons.

I was talking to him on the more abstract phases of molecular disintegration we always talk about things like that, or dames—when one of the Capital's most impressive matrons swept by.

Naturally, I was awe-struck, but Mr. O'Keefe remained quite calm. In fact, he expressed the opinion that the lady was overdressed.

"Don't you think she looks distinguished?" I asked.

"Very," agreed Mr. O'Keefe. "She looks like one of the chambermaids from Dumbarton Oaks."

★ ★ ★

THE NEXT I am about to tell you is not a gag. I seen it with my own eyes and heard it with my own ears.

I was conferring with Mr. O'Keefe when Mr. Raymond C. Schindler, the detective, joined us. In some manner, which I cannot recall now, a couple of dames I mean young ladies had also gotten attached to the party. This is one of the strange things of life and I guess we must just accept it.

Being a gentleman of the old school, which should be closed for repairs, Mr. Schindler was the soul of courtesy.

He was also very instructive. He said that a flattoot detective must always keep his eyes open.

One of the young ladies was particularly fascinated. It seems she has always wanted to be a detective although, goodness knows, she is snoopy enough already. She asked Mr. Schindler if he could always tell a torso murderer just by looking at him.

"Not always," said Mr. Schindler. "Sometimes they fool me at first."

★ ★ ★

BUT THIS is the thing that got me: After a while, Mr. Schindler said:

"Would you ladies like to come up to my room and look at my cigarettes?"

And, by golly, if they didn't both go!

★ ★ ★

I HAVE JUST received a most cryptic postcard from Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt. It shows a street scene in Kansas City, Mo., and bears the caption:

"Petticoat Lane Looking East From Main Street."

On the reverse side Mr. Vanderbilt has written:

"The only petticoats I have seen out here are on the street signs. County definitely for U. D. R."

★ ★ ★

THIS HAS left me completely baffled. For one thing, I cannot figure out whether Mr. Vanderbilt is on a political survey or ogling tour.

Maybe he is trying to convey some information. If anyone happens to run into him out West, will he please ask him?

Vanderbilt will be easy to identify. He will be the fellow who borrows a pencil so he can take a couple of notes on a paper napkin.

Hollywood Today

By Dorothy Manners

Substituting for Louella O. Parsons, Who Is on Vacation

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 25—Dorothy McGuire, who has never made a picture for David Selznick in the two years she's been under contract, heads back to the home base for one of the most important stories ever purchased by David O.

The first Henry James novel to see the movies, "The Wings of the Dove," has been acquired by Selznick who loves fiction (which this is) like a blood relative. Dorothy will play the American girl in colorful period drama that deals with the social scene in America, England and Italy at the turn of the century.

She will be one of the three stars for this movie, and two other top names from the Selznick boxoffice bonfires get equally important roles. Miss McGuire is certainly the original Lend-Lease girl of the Selznick contract players. She's made "Claudia," "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" and currently "The Enchanted Cottage" on the outside

SIDE-LINES: Sad that Richard Bennett died on the birthday of his eldest daughter, Constance . . . Although Gene Kelly is 1-A, he may land an overseas show tour before entering the service . . . Neil Hamilton gets the male lead opposite Mary Astor in "Many Happy Returns" on Broadway . . . The Bill Gargans just received a letter from Mrs. Leslie Howard in which she said she will be in Hollywood as soon as possible. She is coming to settle Leslie's affairs in this country. The Howard home on Canyon Drive, in Beverly Hills, has been leased for five years . . . Kaye Emerson gets the role of the gal who-isn't-all-she-oughta-be in "Hotel Berlin" at Warners . . . Paramount received so many complaints from readers about changing the title of "Miss Susie Slagle's" to "The Golden Years" they are changing it to "Miss Susie Slagle," dropping the extra "S."

* * *

COLUMBIA'S big bid for "Follow the Girls" didn't go through and Al Borde, co-producer with David Wolper of the New York hit, says no movie offer will be accepted for six months. Since the show hit $37,000 last week the boys can afford to bide their time and weigh the assorted picture bids. Another mistaken impression is Gertrude Niesen, the star, has a contract calling for her appearance in the movie. The truth is Gertie has a deal for the life of the show, but any movie contract would have to be a separate arrangement.

* * *

JUST HEARD one of the best human interest stories to come out of the war. It's about a young bosun's mate, Arthur L. Parker, and a horse, "Foxhole." When the Marines took a certain island in the South Pacific they were amazed to find the natives in possession of a little colt. Investigation proved the half-starved animal, which was sick and uncared for, had belonged to the wife of a British islander who fled when the Japs came. Parker, who is from Texas, took "Foxhole" under his wing, fed him oatmeal from the supplies and treated him with salves and oils until he became the pet of the company. Then Parker became ill and was ordered to this country. But so deep was the devotion between the man and the colt the boys prevailed on a Navy man to bring back the horse, too. Parker was put in a hospital in Long Beach and while there he met Lt. Marvin Park and told him the quarantine authorities would not release "Foxhole." Park went to Harry Rapf at M-G-M, arranged for a veterinary's certificate and now "Foxhole" is not only present, but will play himself in the movie based on his wartime career.

HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS: Lt. Alfred Vanderbilt is in Chicago seeing K. T. Stevens who, meanwhile, has been seen everywhere with Hugh Marlowe, her leading man in "Voice of the Turtle." This comes from L. O. P. who wares the added news Carole Landis starts rehearsals immediately in New York on "Lady in Question." Says the boss Miss P.: "Carole denies a reconciliation with Capt. Tom Wallace, but her romance with Georgie Jessel is also colder than potato salad." Michael the four-year-old son of Jennifer Jones and Bob Walker, has passed the crisis after a siege of bronchial pneumonia; Clark Gable's first radio appearance since entering or getting out of the service, will be the master of ceremonies on "Command Performance," Thursday night. It will be a tribute from the "Winged Victory" cast to our Air Forces; Arthur Hornblow hosting a dinner party in honor of the Ted Sauciers at Ciro's; They are snooting around Paulette Goddard in "Duffy's Tavern." She has a cold in the head; Fred Astaire brought back as souvenirs several sets of false teeth that belonged to the Nazis. Beauty — This Cream Pays Glamour Dividends — Fashion

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

PRELUDE TO WINTER . . . sharp autumn winds and falling leaves warn you to protect your skin from dryness . . . and keep it young, smooth and receptive to make-up with an outstanding conditioning cream . . . that will give your complexion overnight satisfaction and be beauty insurance against the cold-weather months to come.

LISTEN TO THE RUSTLE of the falling autumn leaves . . . and heed their warning. They sing a song of approaching cold-weather months . . . a cooing warning lest the goblins of dryness reduce your complexion to a flaky shambles.

The same sharp breezes . . . which are stripping the trees of their foliage . . . will be fanning your face and throat from now on . . . provoking dryness or, more probably, adding to the already rebellious state of your skin. Much of the natural lubrication it needs is gone with the sun and salt water . . . and the result is a taut, flaking condition at odds with loveliness.

You have heard a lot . . . and will hear more . . . about the new look in fashions . . . and the smooth, camellia-like skin that is a necessary part of the desired effect. Such a skin is a gift of which nature is jealous . . . and eager to snatch away. Will you sit idly by and let her? That's why a perfect conditioning cream is an autumn and winter essential . . . to persuade it back to loveliness . . . and to protect it from the further harm and onslaught of wintry blasts.

Because it is super-rich . . . this conditioning cream is expressly formulated to do what its name implies . . . and you'll virtually note a difference in your skin texture overnight . . . while you dream about the beauty that is really skin-deep.

SIMPLE HOME TREATMENT

Pat this conditioning cream all over your face and neck . . . with cotton squeezed out in cold water. After a few minutes . . . lightly remove the excess from your nose and chin . . . since that area is usually pretty normal no matter how dry the rest of the face is . . . leaving the balance of the thin film on your skin overnight.

This is a simple home treatment requiring but little time . . . but one which will pay handsome beauty dividends in the final analysis. If you're regular in the use of the conditioning cream . . . you'll find it is really the equivalent of a weekly "luxury" facial.

There isn't a complexion, we'll wager . . . that doesn't need some sort of reconditioning now. You renovate your homes through fall cleaning . . . why not renovate your skin with a fall treatment that will prepare it for the months to come? You'll be sorry . . . if you don't.

For the name of this conditioning cream, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Pies Folks Rave About

By MARTHA LEE

AUTUMN IS THE TIME FOR PIES. Apples and pumpkins are in season, and hot mince pie comes into its own again as cold weather returns. Perhaps pumpkin pie is the one we connect with the fall season more than any other.

People may differ as to how pumpkin pie should be served - warm, cold, with whipped cream or cheese. But in any case the pie crust should be beautifully browned, tender and flaky—the filling glistening smooth and rich and spicy when you eat it. Then you have a perfect pumpkin pie.

The following recipe, carefully followed, will give you a pie that's sure to bring compliments. And by the way, for entertaining servicemen around the holidays, individual pumpkin pies are "tops."

PUMPKIN PIE

1 tsp. cinnamon
2 cups pumpkin — 1 tsp. nutmeg
⅔ cup sugar — ½ tsp. salt
3 tbsp. flour — 2 cups milk
1 tsp. ginger — 3 eggs
Pastry, for 1-crust pie

Combine pumpkin, sugar, flour, spices and salt. Scald milk. Beat eggs slightly; add with milk to other ingredients. Line pie plate with pastry, allowing 1 to 1½ inches to extend over edge of plate. Double pastry edge, making it stand upright, and press into fluted shape. Fill with pumpkin filling. Bake in hot oven (450 deg. F.) for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (350 deg. F.) and continue baking until custard is set (about 30 minutes).

PASTRY FOR 1-CRUST PIE

1-3 cup lard — 1 cup flour
2 to 3 tbsp. water — ½ tsp. salt

Sift flour, measure, add salt, and sift again. Cut in lard until particles are about the size of dried peas. Add cold water, a little at a time, mixing quickly and evenly through flour with a fork until dough just holds in a ball. Use as little water as possible. Chill before rolling. Roll dough to about ⅛-inch thickness.

DEEP-DISH APPLE PIE

⅛ tsp. nutmeg — 6 to 8 apples
3 tbsp. water — 1 cup sugar
½ tsp. cinnamon — ½ tsp. salt
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
Pastry for 1-crust pie

Pare, core and cut apples in thin slices; place in baking dish or deep pie plate and sprinkle with mixture of sugar, salt, and spices. Pour water over filling and dot with butter; adjust pastry, rolled ⅛-inch thick, over top. Bake in hot oven (450 deg. F.) 10 minutes; then reduce heat to moderate (350 deg. F.) and bake 30 to 35 minutes longer, or until apples are tender. Makes 1 deep-dish (9-inch) pie.

MINCEMEAT TURNOVERS

Pastry for 1-crust pie
1½ cups mincemeat
2 tbsp. milk
½ cup grated cheese

Roll and cut pastry in 3-inch rounds, using cookie cutter. Fill with mincemeat and fold over. Moisten edges and press together and prick tops with a fork. Brush top of turnovers with milk and sprinkle with cheese. Bake in hot oven (450 deg. F.) about 15 minutes. Makes 6 turnovers.

PUMPKIN-MARMALADE TARTS

Use recipe for pumpkin pie, and double the pastry recipe. Line tart pans with pastry and place 1 teaspoon orange marmalade in each. Fill with pumpkin mixture. Bake in hot oven (450 F.) 10 minutes; then reduce heat to moderate (350 deg. F.) and bake 20 to 30 minutes longer, or until knife inserted comes out clean. Cool. Top with whipped cream. Makes 14 (4-inch) tarts.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Tuesday—I did not have room in my column yesterday to mention the Foreign Policy Association dinner on Saturday night in New York. It was an extraordinary audience responsive, attentive and enthusiastic. I am sure that speaking to such an audience must have been a great pleasure.

I really think that the reason my husband arrived back here this morning in such good spirits is that both in his rainy drive on Saturday morning and in his talk on Saturday night, he felt himself in contact with a big group of people, and that to all of us is stimulating.

It is the real reason why I hope that whoever is elected on November 7 will not find himself the choice of the minority of those eligible to vote in this country. In serious times, in spite of all the preoccupations and worries which close in on every individual citizen, I think we must realize that it is the due of every man we put in [illegible] in a Democracy to feel that back of him really, is the majority of people who are eligible to vote. If only a small minority vote, it can always stand in the future as a challenge to the elected official that he does not really represent the will of the people. That is not fair to our public servants in times such as these.

* * *

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON I went to Newburgh, N. Y., to speak at a women's meeting. It was started as a tea for 150 women; but it turned into a meeting in a high school auditorium holding 800 people, and much to my surprise there were quite a number of men present as well as women!

We arrived back in Washington to find that it is certainly milder and less snappy here than it is further north. Perhaps that is the reason why the trees are not as brilliantly colored.

Tweed Suits Popular

By BETTINA BEDWELL

TWEED suits are in style in an important way, but they are not the dull, shapeless, wear-hard kind most folks think of as tweed suits. The new ones are as colorful as a sprig of heather, and are cut to neat and smart lines, so they can be worn all day and out to a cocktail party, too. Violet, vivid pink, golden yellow, rich glowing blue and soft greens are the tweed colors that are used by the best designers.

Bruon, a really fine designer of suits, makes his in the heather colors, and the one sketched is made of vivid heather pink. It has a tiny, almost invisible checked pattern. The collar and revers have a soft character, with tiny diamond - shaped pieces introduced there, and also on the pockets.

Tweed gloves, cane and hat make the suit a symphony of tweed. The pretty blouse is heather pink jersey.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25—With the divorce announced, intimates expect Lauren Bacall to become the fourth Mrs. Bogart. Mayo, during the final tiff, referred to her as "a baby Mae West" . . . Luise Rainer and Vincent Bendix are a headline threat . . . A musical now in rehearsal is $75,000 short . . . The bands have finally figured out a way to get around the Petrillo ban and will, shortly . . . Lt. Eddie Allard is shuttling between here and Washington to see Margo . . . Doctors have warned Judy Garland again to watch her health . . . The grapevine hints that Estelle Taylor has selected the groom to succeed Paul Small when the divorce is final . . . Harry James' out-of-court settlement with his first wife was okayed not by lawyers, but by B. Grable . . . Isn't Celeste Holm readying a bulletin? . . . FDR has personally asked Donald Nelson to take over the job as Surplus Administrator.

THE AWVS plans to set up a permanent organization devoted to postwar work . . . Tommy Dorsey is looking for a male vocalist, to unveil in the spectacular manner when he comes East again. (Write him, pleeze, not me!) . . . Jack Topping is doing the spots with Natalie Faban, the pretty artist . . . Several rival night clubs are fighting it out for the vacant spot formerly occupied by the Zanzibar . . . The censors will get apoplexy over Christina Stead's new novel. It's called, "For Love Alone" . . . There are rumors that Roy Rogers' horse, Trigger, is knitting tiny garments.

LENA HORNE is slated for a John Wildberg musical on Broadway . . . Benny Goodman's brother, Freddie, will manage Artie Shaw's comeback . . . Walter Pidgeon's daughter is swooning over Larry Barbier . . . Eddie Norris is in town. Betty Hutton's last date before she went overseas was with him, and he thinks that might mean something . . . Jane Churchill, the girl who figured in the Dorsey-Hall scrape, is rehearsing a vaudeville act. Her big number will be a song, "It Could Have Happened to You" . . . Sam Raphaelson gave "The Perfect Marriage" a swift rewrite during its Philly stay . . . The papers have been linking Bette Davis with a lad named Riley, but what about the lad named Ted Newton? They're only good friends . . . A major postwar problem is aviation traffic. Nobody can figure a way to plant cops in mid-air, or keep drunks from driving helicopters.

Star Shine

By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 25—There are plenty of theater people connected with the production of the picture, "The Golden Years." Among the players there are Roman Bohnen and Morris Carnovsky, and then there are Producer John Houseman and Director John Berry. Surprising also is the fact that Lillian Gish, the heroine of silent pictures, now considers herself a stage actress.

Sonny Tufts

In fact, it is Miss Gish who has started the conversation about stage acting and the legitimate. "Personally," says Miss Gish, "I always believed in the romantic school. If I know that a drama has great romance, I feel it will be successful."

"Romance is good," agrees Carnovsky, formerly of the Group Theater, "but it is necessary also that the actor feels the reality of the piece. Stanislavsky still has his followers." Roman Bohnen, who was also a member of the Group Theater, nods in agreement.

"I like to think of a process of assimilation in acting," he says.

Director Berry and Producer Houseman get technical. The essence of their thought is that a single mind is needed to shape a performance, set character, give pace. Realism is the essence. "The public," says Berry, "wants the stark, human drama."

* * *

IT APPEARS that every set has a number of former stage performers who are now busy working in front of a camera. On the set of "A Royal Scandal," Tallulah Bankhead, William Eythe and Vincent Price are waiting to do a scene for Director Otto Preminger. And of these Tallu, Price and Preminger are veterans of the legitimate.

Price is telling a story of when he was playing the Prince Consort opposite Helen Hayes in "Victoria Regina." "A certain Hollywood producer,' says Price, "looking desperately for an actor for an important picture he was about to make, saw me in the play and decided I was the type. Just one thing bothered him. Could I possibly acquire a southern accent?"

"He came backstage to meet me. He didn't know that I was from Missouri and have a natural inclination to a slight Southern accent. I, in turn, didn't know that he was trying to cast the role of a Southerner. And, if I had known, I wouldn't have behaved any differently.

"In my dressing room, I was myself, not the Prince Consort. After the producer had talked to me for a few minutes, he stood up, walked to the door and gaily said: 'Mr. Price, never have I heard an actor make such an obvious attempt to get a role. But you're not fooling me. I'm not falling for such a phoney act.' And with that he walked out slamming the door."

"Of course," continued Price, "I don't want to mention the name of the producer. I'm being considered by him now to play the role of a Southern gentleman in a picture."

But those legitimate performers must have something, for after Tallu and Bill Eythe played a hot love scene Bill was all in, practically unable to continue, and Tallu was fresh as a daisy, ready to continue, eager for more.

Boston After Dark

PARIS GOSSIP traveled faster than the Third Army through France in passing the word that Maurice Chevalier, none too popular personally on Broadway or in Hollywood when he was a star, had acted as a "collaborationist" . . . Chevalier pleaded with the U. S. Army staff to hear his own story . . . The one-time leading song-and-dance man of Paris (after World War I) was convincing in his tale that his only appearances as an entertainer in Germany were in front of French war prisoners.

* * *

MOREOVER, CHEVALIER declared that he demanded and received a promise from the Nazis that four prisoners be released in exchange for his services as an entertainer . . . (And another more important "moreover" was that the Nazi promise, according to Chevalier, was kept) . . . The gay Maurice's old American boss, Paramount, has now made arrangements to let its former star tell his own story for a newsreel . . . You'll be hearing it soon . . . It should be said that the Army believes Chevalier.

* * *

JACOBS BEACH in New York is finding some exhilaration in "Uncle" Mike Jacobs' forecast that a Louis-Conn battle is a possibility for the spring of next year . . . It can be arranged if the Army will release both men . . . The Beach is getting a chuckle out of an offer to Tony "2-Ton" Galento . . . He is the prospective hero in the offer of a play entitled "The Kid's Clever" (auspices unidentified as yet).

* * *

NEW YORK IS WAITING eagerly for Frank Fay in "Harvey" (with Josephine Hull doing a beautiful job in the next most important role) . . . Author Mary Chase is being nominated already for the throne vacated in favor of politics by Clare Boothe Luce, the outstanding writer of comedy among her sex until the Chase threat loomed last week . . . A group of Mr. Fay's oldtime Broadway friends were getting up a surprise party at Toots Shor's last dinner time, the party to comprise a visit to Rockingham Park today for the Frank Fay Handicap, and a prior-to-Broadway peek at Frank's show tonight.

BEATRICE LILLIE has been signed (Billy Rose willing) to "double" at the Waldorf's Wedgewood Room while playing in the Rose revue "Seven Lively Arts" . . . when that show reaches Boston on tour. A bit of enterprise on the part of the Copley Plaza's management has resulted in a foreseeing agreement whereby Miss (Lady Peel) Lillie will play the Oval Room in her Boston theatrical engagement . . . One slight hitch in the consummation of that pact is that "Seven Lively Arts" already enjoys an advance sale exceeding $340,000, chiefly through advance booking of theater-parties. At that rate, the Rose show should outstay "Life with Father" on Broadway . . . "On Broadway," of course, is a use of that embracive description of the theater's Manhattan whereabouts . . . The show actually will be playing on Sixth avenue, in a re-dedication to the "legit" of Ziegfeld's former theater—the one built late in his career which started off with the deathless "Show Boat" for an attraction.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—You are, when rightly educated, highly important and helpful whenever needed. Have boundless energy, are sometimes subtle and then again very openminded. Convert warlike, aggressive force into constructive initiative. Control passions, emotions, temper that at times can so hurt health and happiness. Birthdate of Thomas Pebington, English essayist, statesman; Adm. Richard E. Byrd, American explorer.

GOP Women at Rally

By BETTY ALDEN

There's no doubt about whom Mrs. Rutherford Bingham will vote for if her present activities are an indication. This evening the former Catherine Cunningham Gray, socialite songstress, will be soloist singing "The Star-Spangled Banner" to open the Republican rally at Symphony Hall. And at the Junior League's annual tea she wore two different kinds of Dewey buttons on her modish brown dress with its pleated tunic, gold necklace and matching earrings.

Mrs. Rutherford Bingham

"I must sit way down front where my buttons will show off," she said, taking a seat beside Mrs. Taylor Crowinshield to hear the afternoon's program, a discussion of campaign issues by representatives of both parties, Jarvis Hunt, president of the Mass. Senate, and Rep. John McCormack, majority leader of the House.

Particularly interested in the discussion was Mrs. Robert M. P. Kennard, whose father, Wellington Wells, is a former president of the Mass. Senate. In a gray flannel suit with becoming Dutch cap to match, heart-shaped earrings and a rhinestone Republican elephant pinned to one pocket, she sat beside her Newton Center neighbor, Mrs. Walter Marston and the latter's daughter, postdeb Natalie. "Nat" will probably have to vote by absentee ballot since by election time she expects to be off to Washington to prepare for an overseas job.

Mrs. Robert S. Hurlbut introduced the speakers and the League prexy, Patricia Spencer, presided. Sue Carl Frey and Janet McNeil Glass, a familiar twosome at deb parties a few years back, were warmly welcomed on their return from being away from Boston with their servicemen husbands. Sue wore an American Beauty feather halo with her slim black dress, leopard jacket and muff and Janet was in black with silver fox.

Martha Bird Young was pretty in gray with matching cloche. Jane Badger in an emerald jersey blouse and gray suit, Mrs. J. Craig Huff, Jr., in fuchsia with a tiny aqua and fuchsia feather hat, and others were Mrs. Norman Hoffman with her close friend, Mrs. Charles Miles, Jr., Mrs. Henry McB. Parker in Red Cross uniform, Ann Tarbell Thompson, Helen Harding and Mrs. Howard Wheeler.

* * *

Mrs. William Endicott, chairman of the British Workshop Division of BWRS, urging friends to donate clean and mended blankets, rugs, curtains and furniture coverings to help bombed out Londoners set up housekeeping anew.

Mrs. Charles P. Howard, president of the Women's Republican Club, gardenia festooned and wearing a chic electric blue wool suit with black accessories, walking to the subway. Mrs. Robert Emmons selecting best sellers in an uptown bookship, Mrs. Livingston Davis doing a bit of early Christmas shopping, Mrs. Randolph Marshall (Anne Grant) ditto, and Mrs. William Hanway, in gold wool with reseda green accessories, strolling with her young son in the Public Garden.

Sandwich Gadget Does 3500 an Hr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Lunch-counter slang may be as dead as sanskrit after the war: The New York Board of Education has announced successful experimentation with a mechanical device which turns out 3500 sandwiches an hour, a job ordinarily requiring 90 pairs of hands.

The machine, developed by Board Member George H. Chatfield, consists of a conveyor belt leading into chambers where butter or spread is pressed upon a slice of bread and another slice is dropped to complete the job.

At present, the machine is capable on only simple bread-and-butter jobs, but the future looks bright for triple-decker, nine-ingredient jawbreakers.

RKO-Boston Gala Program

The RKO Boston Theater's gala "Two for One" show opens tomorrow. On stage, in person, will be Perry Como, Clyde Lucas and his orchestra and other star acts. "Bride By Mistake," with Alan Marshal and Laraine Day, is to be the screen fare.

Perry Como, singer extraordinary, shares national honors with Sinatra as far as the juveniles are concerned. In addition he has proven that he also has appeal for more mature audiences. Still under 30, Como is on top with his own program on CBS and a contract with 20th Century Fox.

Clyde Lucas and his orchestra are famous for having introduced marimba music into North American. Featured singers are Jean LaSalle and Paul Steele. Dick Buckley and Lathrop and Lee complete this stage bill.

"Bride By Mistake" is the story of a roguish romance. Laraine Day, wealthy heiress, has her secretary, played by Marsha Hunt, impersonate her for protection from fortune hunters.

Greenwich Village Moves to Modern

The Carmen Miranda-Don Ameche-Bill Bendix-Vivian Blaine-starring Technicolor picture "Greenwich Village," moves over to the Modern screen tomorrow in company with "Roger Touhy, Gangster," with Preston Foster, Victor McLaglen and Lois Andrews.

WHEN FUNNIER PICTURES are made screen star Eddie Bracken and producer-director-writer Preston Sturges will do them together and with a bang. Latest blending of these fabulous talents is "Hail the Conquering Hero," opening tomorrow on the Paramount and Fenway screens.

Rainbow Island Opens At Olympia Tomorrow

"Rainbow Island," Paramount's Technicolor musical with Dorothy Lamour, Eddie Bracken, Gil Lamb and Barry Sullivan, opens tomorrow on the Washington St Olympia and Scollay screens. The co-feature will be "Atlantic City," also a musical, in which Constance Moore, Jerry Colonna and the Paul Whiteman and Louis Armstrong orchestras are featured.

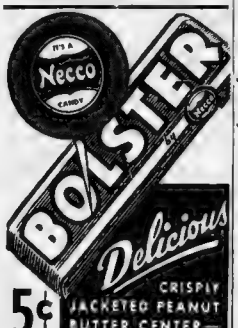
Business Schools To Hear GI Bill Talk

Educational benefits of the "GI Bill of Rights" and the rehabilitation bill will be explained to members of the Massachusetts Council of Business Schools by Harold E. Kiley, regional rehabilitation officer of the Veterans' Administration, at a meeting Saturday at the Parker House.



Can't Unvote It

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 25 (AP)—Randell S. Cobb, Oklahoma's attorney general, has decided not to grant a Tulsa soldier's request to cancel his first war ballot and rush another.

The soldier said he "got to thinking" and decided he had voted for the wrong man. He didn't say which candidate that was. His request was turned down because the state law requires war ballots be deposited in a locked box and not opened until election day.

Paper Shortage To Grow Worse

John T. Kiley, regional WPB salvage director, warned today there is no prospect of the paper shortage easing for many months. His announcement followed a report from the Department of Commerce that civilian use of paper products, including wrapping paper, will be drastically curtailed this winter.

Meanwhile, Boston department stores continued their campaign, asking customers to take packages unwrapped, and Kiley said the publishing and printing industry had agreed to reductions of inventory to a new low.

"We cannot be too emphatic at this time in stressing the necessity for economical handling of existing supplies of paper products," Kiley declared. "The usual seasonal drop in paper salvage is almost upon us and it is important that the public conserve paper right now."

Salvage collections are scheduled today in Hull and Sunday in Waltham and Westwood.

Service Teams Clash In Navy Day Feature

By JACK CONWAY

THE MASSACHUSETTS Maritime Academy's football team will clash with the New London Torpedo Base eleven at New London on Friday in one of the service features in connection with Navy Day. The Massachusetts Maritime Academy, under the able coaching of Lt. Com. E. A. Ellis, recently furnished one of the biggest gridiron upsets of the year when it defeated the strong Exeter Academy outfit, 13 to 12, while the Torpedo Base representative upset Bates and tied Worcester Tech.

Bill McNamara, fullback, who was an All-Scholastic when at Melrose High, has been the driving power in the backfield of the Massachusetts Maritime Academy. Richard Gale and Bill Place are the halfbacks, while Perry Xenakis is the quarterback. The line is composed of Bob Crowell, lt; Dick Boulter, lg; Bill Festa, c; Jim Dagianis, rg; Herb Anderson, rt, while George Hill is at le, and Tom White at re.

Lt. Comdr. Ellis

"We are proud of our football team," said Lt. Comdr. E. A. Ellis, who was born in Roxbury. "We did not have a team at the start of the season and didn't have any plans for one.

"It was then suggested by some of the boys that we play football at the Academy. We organized hastily, and used what equipment we could get.

"After a tuneup game with Bourne High, we went to Exeter. I was thrilled, and so were the spectators, by the fine brand of football Massachusetts Maritime Academy put up against Exeter. The 13 to 12 victory gave our boys a real lift. They had succeeded because they possess a great love for football, and had been schooled in the game before coming to the Academy. It was another case of American boys proving that with a sports background they have ability to adapt themselves to new conditions."

Torpedo Team Strong

THE NEW LONDON Torpedo Base eleven has great strength, and it will be in the best of condition for its clash with the Maritime Academy's outfit.

"Our merchant ships have been doing pretty well running through waters infested with submarines," said Lt. Comdr. Ellis, "and I do not look for the New London eleven to torpedo us."

The Massachusetts Maritime Academy's squad will leave Hyannis for New London tomorrow. It will be quartered at the torpedo base Thursday night.

Friday morning the officers and men at the base will take the Midshipmen on a tour of inspection. They will take them aboard submarines and explain to them the workings of the undersea crafts. It will be an educational trip for the Midshipmen who will later be obliged to combat enemy submarines as they move war supplies overseas to the various battlefronts.

Navy Day Celebrations

NAVY DAY will be celebrated everywhere on Friday. The Navy has reason to be proud of its magnificent record. The American Navy, the largest in the world, is today carrying the war to the enemy everywhere.

The Japs have felt the power of the American Navy more than any other nation. Today the American Navy is reported in what may be one of the greatest sea battles of all time, with the Japs.

The American Navy is on the move. It will not permit the the Japs to forget their cowardly, sneak attack at Pearl Harbor.

SOCCER POPULAR IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—At the rate it's going, scholastic soccer may overshadow football in New York. Only 13 high schools in the boroughs of Brooklyn, Queens and Richmond are playing football while 12 are fielding soccer elevens.

BC to Play Harvard Before Game With HC

By HUCK FINNEGAN

BC's "Informals" are doing all right in a schedule way, are they not? Here they are meeting Syracuse Saturday and announcing a game with Holy Cross for Sunday, Nov. 26. Surprised? Not in this corner. Nor will it be a surprise if BC announces shortly that it will meet Harvard in a return engagement on Nov. 18.

That's the date of the "round-robin," you say. Yeh, but who said the round-robin would go through? More likely, this is the way BC will wind up its season's schedule:

Saturday, Oct. 28—Syracuse at Fenway Park.

Sunday, Nov. 5—Melville, R. I., Naval Torpedo School at Fenway Park.

Sunday, Nov. 12—Brooklyn College at Fenway Park.

Saturday, Nov. 18—Harvard at Harvard.

Sunday, Nov. 26—Holy Cross at Fenway Park.

That isn't official of course, but that seems to be the way the straw bends. And wouldn't that be dandy for an "informal" team like BC—especially in a war year?

Let's skip the HC-BC game. That's been talked over here for weeks. Let's stop long enough to say that those who print: "BC will be slaughtered!" don't know the facts. BC won't be slaughtered.

BC BOYS ARE HAPPY

Get on to the Harvard game. The BC's didn't like the 13-0 licking they took at the Stadium in their first game of the year. They came out of it saying: "Gee, one more week's practice, and we'd have won. Get us a game in November with them, will you? We'll lick 'em next time."

Well, the BC boys must be happy today—Syracuse coming up, Holy Cross definite for Nov. 26, and a second Harvard game in the making. And to think it all started on Sept. 11, 1943 with only 33 reporting for first "informal" practice.

Moody Sarno: You've come a long way.

Jim Tabor Now At Fort Devens

Jim Tabor's in the Army. Jim Tabor, with a wife (Irene) and two children, Virginia Irene, 3, and James Michael, 1, is at Ft. Devens.

The Red Sox third baseman slid away without even his best friends knowing about it. "It's about time I went," he said over the phone this morning. "I've been feeling guilty ever since Williams, Pesky and Dom Di Maggio went into the service. Oh, I know they weren't married, and it didn't hurt me until Tex Hughson and Bobby Doerr (married) went in late this summer. So I said to myself, 'Jim, you're only 27 and even if you have two kids you're younger than some of the boys who are dying over there.'

"You know," he continued, "I like this Army life. I'd like to have enlisted at Pearl Harbor. But I was married, I had just bought a home (1 Lawrence st., Milton) and I didn't want to leave my wife worrying about mortgages as well as the baby."

"I was glad to get this season in," he admitted, "but now that my family will be able to get along (no mortgages in wartime) I'm only too glad to go. And when I come back I'll hit better than I ever did. I've wanted to go for so long, but you can't leave the ones you love penniless."

Tabor the past two years worked at Fore River. He's an expert basketball player, and it might be that he will wind up coaching the Devens basketeers. There is doubt, however. "I'm looking for no favors," he said. "I've always been a good shot, and I think I'd like to serve with the infantry." FINNEGAN.

Robinson, Woods Ready for Bell

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 (AP)—Ray (Sugar) Robinson, one of the leading contenders for the welterweight championship, and Sgt. Lou Woods, who has lost only two professional fights in 34, wind up training today for their 10-round bout at Chicago Stadium Friday night.

Dilly Samuels Stars on Grid

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 25 (AP)—Perry "Dilly" Samuels, who ran 100 yards in 9.7 seconds last spring, may develop into one of the nation's finest footballers, too.

The San Antonio high school boy weighs only 145 pounds, but he's scored more points, 97, than any other kid in Texas. His touchdowns include dashes of 98, 90, 65, 64 and 58 yards. Pass? Yes. Kick? Oh my, yes. One of his quick-kicks was good for 74 yards.

Tony Palozola Is Back With New Whiz

Tony Palozola is coming back to Boston with another Doyle.

The former manager of Paul Doyle, a welterweight who fought many stirring battles around Boston in the '20's, will bring with him Jimmy Doyle, the new West Coast welter, who meets Leo Dulmaine of Worcester, in the semi-final t othe Jam McDaniel-Bill Tordiglione feature at the Garden Friday night.

Sinkwich Leads In Yards Gained

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 (INS)—Frankie Sinkwich, the high-powered Detroit Lions halfback, bobbed through and around the Chicago Bears' line last week for 95 yards to increase his ground gaining lead in the National Football League, official statistics showed today.

Averaging just a shade under four yards on 25 attempts, Sinkwich brought his total to 288 yards, 73 more than Bill Paschal of New York, the individual defending champion. While scoring the Giants' three touchdowns in their 23-to-0 triumph over the Card-Pitt combine, Paschal piled up 89 yards in 14 tries.

Paschal's total was five more than that of Johnny Grigas, Card-Pitt fullback, who moved up to third place with 214 yards in four games.

Col. Finnegan Tacloban Hero

The people of Tacloban, capital of Leyte in the Philippines, smiled in happy freedom from the Japs today after two sections of the 7th U. S. Cavalry Regiment—one of them led by a Boston colonel—had eliminated the last remnants of Jap resistance.

Boston's hero of the smashing defeat of the Japs is Col. Walter E. Finnegan, 39, of Parsons st., Brighton, a West Point graduate in 1928, and brother of Herbert "Huck" Finnegan, Boston American sports writer who just returned from overseas where he served as a war correspondent.

With freedom restored to the Filippinos, Col. Finnegan led his troops to the west to a heavily manned command post fringing San Juanico Strait, where forward reconnaissance showed the enemy was dug in to a depth of nine miles. Blasting operations began at once.

Col. Finnegan was graduated from Brighton High School in 1921 and played in the same backfield as Joe McKenney and Buck Lyndon, two of Brighton's football immortals.

At West Point, he was welterweight boxing champion in 1926 and won his monogram in football and track as well.

For the last two years Col. Finnegan has led troops to victory in New Guinea, the Admiralty and now in the Philippines. His cavalry troops date back to Gen. Custer's old outfit.

In his most recent letters home, the Brighton colonel showed little respect for the ability of the Japs. Said he:

"They're game but they're dumb."

Boston Schoolboys Need Sports Break

By MIKE GILLOOLY

While Boston school officials await the result of the Strayer report on the situation in the physical fitness and sports programs, the department in charge of athletics remains undermanned—and it undoubtedly will for quite some time—while the intown schoolboys flounder around in comparative obscurity.

Joe McKenney, having taken over Nat Young's position, still has to handle his former duties which, in the past, were enough to require an assistant, on top of his new assignments.

Meanwhile, the Boston schoolboy football teams have missed the boat! They had a grand opportunity to pick up a tremendous following this fall, especially with little activity in the local college ranks, but instead they continue to play before small gatherings four days a week—never on Saturdays—in the wide open acres of Braves Field. They'll end their season without a claim on any recognized title, rarely gaining comparison with top suburban elevens.

Go into the stands at Braves some afternoon and try to identify the players! If you happen to come from South Boston, you'll probably know a few of the neighbors' kids, but try to name the kid from Roslindale who makes a tackle! There's no such thing as a program.

That's just one of the facts which helps to reduce the interest in Boston schools. That and the little matter of time which finds the games getting under way at 2:30 with a running clock to get the kids off the field in a hurry.

NEEDS TWO HELPERS

There are plenty of capable fellows within the school ranks fitted for the job as McKenny's assistant to handle sports. Coach Bill Ohrenberger of Boston English has been prominently named for the post, and a more enthusiastic and constructive fellow probably couldn't be found. But he'd had no approaches for the post.

And, if he did take it over, he'd have to handle physical fitness for girls, too, an individual job in itself.

Let's hope that the Strayer report allows for two assistants to McKenney in the present set-up so that the athletic director can concentrate on bringing Boston schoolboys back to the peak they formerly enjoyed.

Mack Books All-Star Card

The accident which befell Larry Bolvin of Providence when his foot was jammed as he worked in the Walsh-Kaiser shipyard in Rhode Island and which necessitated the calling off of his bout with Lulu Costantino may prove a better break for the Callahan A. C. fans at Mechanics Building tomorrow night.

Matchmaker Eddie Mack announces a 32-round card of action. From all indications Eddie may hit the jack pot. Here is the new card of four eight-round bouts:

Fred Schott, Elizabeth, N. J., vs. Earl Lowman, New York, 8 rounds, heavyweights.

Soldier Johnny Ryan, Detroit, vs. Gene Boulden, Providence, 8 rounds.

Tg. Brown Bomber, New York, vs. Bill McDowell, Newark, N. J., 8 rounds.

Joe Reddick, Montclair, N. J., vs. Van McNutt, New York, 8 rounds.

School Twin Bill At Wigwam Off

Because of a soggy gridiron, the Boston schoolboy football double-header, scheduled for Braves Field this afternoon, has been postponed. The Jamaica-Brighton game will be played as part of a double-header tomorrow, sharing the billing with Trade-Commerce. The Brandeis Vocational-Boston Tech tilt has been cancelled.

Syracuse Fears B. C. "T" Formation

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Driving his squad at top speed on a turf made slippery by all-day rains, Coach Ossie Solem overlooked no detail in an effort to ready his charges for the coming encounter with Boston College.

Defensive work against the "T" as operated by Boston College occupied most of the afternoon and frequent shifts of key linemen indicated that all was not well with the Orange defense.

Kopf Says Brooklyn Will Be Tough Going

It is becoming more apparent daily, as the Yanks prepare for their Sunday game with Brooklyn Tigers, that the "week-enders" are finding it tougher and tougher to hold their starting jobs.

Big Ed Franco, for example, is one of those in question. The Fordham All-America was supposed to perform heroics at tackle for the Yanks this fall, and at times he does contribute a stellar individual feat. But Franco, working in a defense plant, doesn't practice during the week and hasn't learned the "little things" that develop into big things in the heat of combat. So he may give way as a starter to the lesser known Chris Riggs, Art Albrecht or Wimpy Giddens, much as did Walt Dubzinski to Jim Magee at center before Dubzinski donned the Navy blue.

TIGERS ARE TOUGH

The Tigers are tough and Kopf knows it. He'll have a difficult time bringing his charges back after their humiliating defeat in Philly, and the long list of bruised and battered doesn't pretty the picture. Backs Gudmundson, Turbert, Steinmetz, Davis, Stasica and Cafego are the worse for wear, and there is a possibility that Gudmundson will not be ready Sunday. He was injured on the opening kickoff at Philly, and the Yanks were in the hole from then on.

Kopf has appointed veteran end Keith Ranspot captain for the Tigers game, and he may remain captain throughout the season. Bob Davis and Augio Lio have held the job in previous games. Ranspot has been in the league seven years, is steady as a clock. He'll make a good leader.

Like the Yanks, the Tigers haven't won a game this year; but unlike the Yanks they haven't been licked by more than a touchdown in any one game. Green Bay and the Giants, both unbeaten, topped them 14 to 7; Detroit beat them 19-14, and Sunday Joe Aguirre's field goal gave the Redskins a 17-14 edge. What galled the Tigers on the week-end is that Pug Manders broke away for 39 yards and apparently the winning T.D., only to have the run nullified by a holding penalty.

JOHNSON OVER PASS

Overhead, the Tigers outgained the Redskins, and from Cecil Johnson they got their most effective passing to date. He completed four in a row to produce the Tigers first TD and pitched the second to Bud Masterson.

Dad Smiles As Ross, Jr., Visits

QUEBEC, Que., Oct. 25—People who saw Art Ross, rugged manager of the Boston Bruins, Boston's entry in the National Hockey League, saw something a little new in him yesterday.

The usually grim countenance which has been presiding over the practice sessions of the "Beantown" boys, was wreathed in smiles. It was wreathed in smiles, because "Art" was accompanied by a tall flight-lieutenant of the RCAF, who bore the name of Arthur H. Ross, Jr., an eminent member of Canada's Air Force that had just been reunited with his famous father after he had returned to Canada, following his amazing adventure in occupied France.

Flight Lt. Ross crashed in enemy territory last June and was reported killed. He escaped capture by the enemy by disguising himself as one of the Maquis, and after having eluded German patrols, reached Paris in time to contact the advancing Allied forces in Paris.

The young filer, who was accompanied to Quebec by his charming wife and who is the father of a baby son, took rooms at the Chateau Frontenac where his father is presiding over the destinies of the famous "Boston Bruins" as they complete their training in preparation of the forthcoming opening of the "Bruins" squad against the Montreal Canadians in Montreal Saturday.

"I'm very happy and very proud," said Art Ross, Sr., when questioned as to his feeling upon his reunion with his sky-riding son. Earlier in the day, young "Art" had expressed his sentiments in saying that it was "good to see the old man again."

The Lost Weekend

"How long since you've eaten?" Helen said.

She got him across the sidewalk to a cab.

A streak of fire ran across the rug to the bed.

"HELLO," Helen said. He was dog-sick. Noises like a dog came from somewhere out of his chest. Helen didn't seem to hear. She went into the kitchen and set down some packages, then came back and turned on the lamp.

A quaking shook Don like a chill, his arms flopped up and down off the arms of the chair as if dandled on wires. If she looked at him now his head would begin bobbing like a toy.

Soon she came toward him with a glass of milk and half a sandwich on a plate. "How long since you've eaten, Don? Yesterday? Two days?"

He shook his head and the tears streamed down his cheeks. He could die of shame for crying. "Leave me alone. Go away, go away . . ."

"Not like this, Don. I can't leave you. Come down to my house, Don. I'll be able to take care of you there. I'll call a cab."

A cab-driver. Seeing them leave the front door and step into a cab. Or passers-by on the sidewalk seeing Helen helping him. How could Helen want to be seen with him? But she didn't seem to care.

Somehow, then, she got him down the stairs. He had to sit down at every landing, sometimes even in the middle of the stairs to rest. Then she got him across the sidewalk and into the cab. The ride downtown he made in a kind of oblivion into which he had passed when terrified by the noise of the traffic.

Not quite an hour after Helen first had arrived, he was in the tub at her home. His clean pajamas hung on a hook by the door. As he lay back in the hot water he felt so soothed and calm that he could almost sleep.

In the hall, he could hear Helen on the telephone. Instantly, he knew that she had called Wick. Don was okay, she had him here at the house, don't worry. That's what she was telling him.

In his pajamas, in bed at last, he felt clean at least. Helen snapped on the little lamp on the night-table. She brought him a glass of water and two little pills. "They're something the doctor gave me," she said.

He could not hold the glass. She tilted it so he could drink. Then she left a soup-dish of milk-toast for him and went out. Just as he was about to reach for the plate, a streak of fire ran across the rug to the bed.

$10,000 In Purses At Gulfstream Opener

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 25 (AP)—Racing Secretary E. A. Hileman announced yesterday that a total of $10,000 in purses will be distributed on the first day of racing at Gulfstream Park Dec. 1.

The track re-opens on that date under the management of Miami florist and sportsman James Donn, after a lapse of five years.

Inaugural Day will be featured by a $2500 handicap at a mile and a quarter for three-year-olds and upwards, and the secondary feature will be a $2000 race at a mile and 70 yards.

Other races on the eight-race card will be valued at $1200 and $1600, Hileman said.

For the first Saturday's operations, horsemen will go for $9600 in prize money.

Blackhawks Drill On Chicago Ice

CHICAGO, Oct. 25 (AP)—Eighteen members of the Chicago Blackhawks hockey squad were scheduled to hold their first workout of the season here today after their arrival from their 25-day training session at Hibbing, Minn.

Manager Paul Thompson has five new members on the squad. The Hawks open their National League season Sunday against the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Wins Double; Falls From Stand

LEWISTON, Me., Oct. 25 (INS)—Frank Sheridan, 35, was named on the danger list at St. Mary's General Hospital today with head injuries sustained when he pitched from the grandstand of the Maine State Fair ground as his second horse won to complete a daily double.

Sheridan struck his head on the railing and then landed on the gravel. The winning combination paid him $29.80.

Strack Winner Over Schaeffer

Charlie Strack of Oklahoma was declared the winner over Pat Schaeffer of California when the latter fell out of the ring suffering a back injury and was unable to continue after one hour and five minutes of wrestling, in last night's feature bout before 2400 at Mechanics Hall.

Joe Dempsey went to a draw with Al Staples and Curly Lavoie and Walter Mitchell did likewise.

DON AMECHE'S HORSE WINS

Don Ameche's Sir Bim, second choice in the betting, won the six-furlong Keeneland purse at Churchill Downs by a neck over Joe's Choice. Foreign Agent was third. Sir Bim was timed in 1:12 4-5 and paid $6.60.

Syracuse No Soft Touch for B. C. Team

Ossie Solem's University of Syracuse eleven will be no pushovers for the Eagles of Boston College when the two teams meet in the only local college football attraction of the week-end at Fenway Park on Saturday afternoon.

Solem is a crafty old gent and has 27 years of coaching experience. He is a believer in the Minnesota system of play, but in recent years he has so modified and altered that system with his own adaptions that it more truthfully might be called the Solem system. He was the originator of the much-talked about Y formation which was used by the Orangemen in 1941, and BC can rest assured that he will have something up his sleeve to stymie their potent formation. Syracuse has a huge advantage in the fact that, although Moody Sarno has had no scouts watching them this year, Bill Boettler, Syracuse backfield coach, has scouted the Eagles in several of their games.

Reaves Baysinger, standing 6 feet 1 inch and weighing 182 pounds, will call the signals for the Orange. He can pass, kick and run and teamed with Rudy Cosentino, 180-pound halfback, at Staunton Military Academy last fall. Lee Buchsbaum, 185-pound fullback, and Ed Dolan, 6 foot, 165-pound left halfback, will round out the Syracuse backfield.

The Orange line averages 196 pounds in weight and 5 feet 11 inches in heights and should be a tough nut for the Heightsmen to crack. Jeff Hustis, left tackle, is the biggest man on the Syracuse starting eleven, tipping the scales at 204 pounds and standing 6 feet above terra firma. Tom Sullivan, right end, weighs 198 pounds and stands 6 feet 4 inches. Such height should make an excellent target for Syracuse passers.

Coach Moody Sarno has his charges going through daily workouts in preparation for Syracuse, their toughest opponent of the season. Suffering the loss of four first stringers since the Harvard game, the BC boys will not be up to par for the tilt. The hunt for a quarterback substitute for Charlie Englert continues and Tom Seymour, converted halfback, is improving by leaps and bounds. Englert's passing is developing also in the practice sessions. An aerial attack was not needed to defeat their last two opponents but may become necessary against Solem's boys on Saturday.

With a Holy Cross-Boston College arranged for Sunday, Nov. 26, the BC boys will be anxious to keep on the winning side of the ledger. Saturday's game will be a criterion, for, if the Eagles win by an impressive margin, the tilt with the Crusaders will draw a capacity attendance. Despite the opinion of many, the HC game will be no runaway for the boys from Worcester and the game will be in keeping with the annual classic's past performances although BC is playing on an informal basis.

Storm King Purse To Gelding Jezrahel

NEW YORK, Oct. 25 (AP)—Jezrahel, formerly owned by John Marsch, but now running in the silks of Emil Schwartzhaupt, won his fourth straight race yesterday by capturing the Storm King Purse at Jamaica.

The iron gray gelding, winner of the 1943 Arlington Futurity, trailed Saguaro and Miss Drummond until the turn into the home stretch. Jockey Eddie Arcaro then brought the 3-5 favorite to the front to win by a length over Miss Drummond.

Fox Brownie closed fast to head Saguaro for the show. Okapi Lancer was fifth and last.

Jezrahel ran the six furlongs in 1:11 4-5 and paid $3.20.

6 STRAIGHT FOR BON JOUR

Charles Turner's Bon Jour chalked up his sixth in a row with an easy two-length triumph in the quantity handicap at Laurel. He Rolls was second and William Helis' Alfios third.

Bon Jour, who once ran in claiming races, carried top weight of 126 pounds in running the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:47 3-5.
